BOARD APPROVES
BILL FOR NATURAL GAS FRANCHISEService Bureau Refers Measure to Give McKnab
Co. 20-Year Charter to Aldermanic Committee.LATTER MAY TAKE ACTION ON FRIDAY

Hay Amendments Incorporated—Stipulation on Reduction of Price Excluded as Invalid.

The bill which would give the McKnab Oil & Gas Co. a 20-year franchise to supply St. Louis with natural gas was approved today by the Board of Public Service, which referred it to the Special Gas Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

The committee, of which Vice-President Fitzsimmons of the Board of Aldermen is chairman, has given indication of its attitude toward the proposal. The committee may consider the bill at a meeting Friday.

Approval was given to the bill by the Board of Public Service today after it had received an opinion by Associate City Counselor Wayman that an amendment stipulating that the price of gas to the consumer must be reduced below present rates would be invalid. Director of Public Utilities Wall had proposed such an amendment, but Wayman held that the Public Service Commission had exclusive jurisdiction in the matter of rates.

Hay Amendments Accepted.

Several amendments suggested by City Counselor Hay were incorporated in the bill as it was approved by the Board of Public Service. One of these obligates the McKnab company to furnish gas if the city should purchase the company's rights and equipment, or acquire them by forfeiture.

Other amendments, designed to safeguard the city's interests, exclude the franchise value as an element to be considered if the city should purchase the system, provide for compensation to the city for the use of its streets and stipulate the heat content of the gas to be furnished.

Financing Arranged.

The McKnab company has headquarters at Winfield, Kan. Its representatives have stated it will lay a 70-mile pipe line from Bowling Green to St. Louis, and 4 miles of pipe in the city.

Kelt Wilson, engineer for the McKnab Co., has said that it would sell the gas to the Laclede Gas Light Co. for distribution in St. Louis if the Laclede Co. would take it.

ROBINSON CENSURES SCHALL,
BLIND SENATOR, FOR REMARKS

Tells Minnesota He Can't "Shield Himself Behind an Affliction."

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Protesting against what he termed the "moral obliquities" of Senator Schall (Rep.), Minnesota, in inserting what he said was defamatory matter in the Record, Majority Leader Robinson served notice today on Schall that in spite of his blindness Schall would have to conform to the rules.

Robinson's action was prompted by Schall's request to have a speech by a Minnesota editor and a Texas newspaper editorial read into the Record and to have one of his own speeches read by the clerk. Robinson declared he would insist on the right to object to parts of them found unsuitable to the Record, and immediately drew from Schall the assurance that "if I had my sight I could read that speech without censorship." He said the rules of the Senate should be amended "so one man can't impose censorship on another Senator."

Schall denied he had inserted objectionable material in the Record and Robinson replied that last week Schall called a "very high official" of the Government a "maniac." He had reference to Schall's description of President Roosevelt as a "megalomaniac." Robinson declared that Schall "cannot shield himself behind an unfortunate affliction."

WASHINGTON, July 16.—President Roosevelt sent a message today expressing the "sincere sympathy" of the Government and the American people to the President of China because of the large loss of life in floods on the Yangtze and Yellow rivers.

IN NAZI WORK CAMP

Six Heidelberg Boys Pay for Discussion of How Der Fuehrer Eats Asparagus.

BERLIN, July 16.—Six Heidelberg students are expiating their frivolous behavior in a concentration camp, the Nazi weekly Landpost reported today.

Instead of listening reverently to the broadcast of a speech by Adolf Hitler, the six young aristocrats made unseemly noises, it was charged, and started a farcical discussion of how Der Fuehrer ate asparagus.

Their antics caused a two-year suspension of the famous Saxo-Borussian fraternity, but the Nazi press started a clamor for more drastic punishment.

The Landpost reported: "These young sprigs of aristocracy have been transferred to another educational establishment where black-shirted wardens are teaching them both manners and manual labor."

TWO KILLED, 6 INJURED
IN BRITISH PLANE CRASH

Loses Altitude on Taking Off for Silver Jubilee Review of Fleet.

LONDON, July 16.—Two persons were killed today in the blazing wreckage of an airplane which crashed at the edge of Heston Airfield after a take-off for Spithead for the silver jubilee review of the British fleet.

The plane was chartered by two men named Vickers and Da Costa, Thromorton street brokers, for a cruise around Spithead. It crashed as it lost altitude after taking off with seven passengers and burst into flames immediately.

The dead were two passengers, Maj. A. W. Fosbrooke-Hobbes, general secretary of the research department of the Conservative party, and H. Newhouse. The pilot and five other passengers, including one woman, Margaret Vickers, were taken to a hospital suffering from burns and injuries.

DISAPPROVED BY SOVIETS

Coal Mine Manager Who Tore Down Dividing Wall Receives Official Rebuke.

MOSCOW, July 16.—Mixed nude bathing in Soviet Russia has fallen into official disfavor as "offensive to the dignity of Soviet citizens."

An example was made yesterday in the case of the manager of a coal mine in the Don Basin, who instructed employees of both sexes to bathe together and, objecting to the presence of a dividing wall in the public bath, called modesty "a prejudice of the old Bourgeois days." He was rebuked by the official newspaper, Izvestia, which said, "It is necessary to make people understand that the dignity of a Soviet citizen is a hundred times more worthy of concern than the tearing down of walls of public baths."

Western Union Manager at Warren, Pa., Testifies Names Signed Were Taken From Phone Book.

BREWSTER SHIFTED STAND, THREE SAY

Assert Maine Man Declared 'Death Sentence,' Then Voted Against It.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Testimony that names signed to telegrams sent to members of Congress in opposition to the Utility Holding Company bill were selected from a telephone directory at the direction of a utility company representative was given today to Senate investigators.

J. A. Fisher, manager of the Western Union office at Warren, Pa., told the Senate Lobby Committee he had sent about 1300 telegrams to Representatives and Senators in opposition to the Utility Holding Company bill.

Says Police Gave No Aid.

"Nowhere did the police seem to make any effort whatever to prevent the victims from this brutality. Occasionally they attempted to clear areas for motor traffic to get through or to prevent the crowds from collecting in front of certain apparently favored cafes. That was all."

"All along Kurfuerstendamm the crowd raised the shout 'Jude!' whenever anyone sighted or thought he had sighted a Jew. The cry sent the crowd converging on the poor victim who was asked for his identification papers. If he could not prove himself a good 'Aryan' he was insulted, spat on, roughly handled, and sometimes knocked down, kicked and beaten."

"The cry 'Jude!' would be raised at another point and the crowd would hurry off to a new victim. 'Chant Would Be Raised.'

"At times a chant would be raised—I can't remember the German, but the chant was something like 'get the hell out—blood running—nooses—the best Jew is a dead Jew'—precisely like a Christian liturgy, with a leader speaking the lines first and the crowd chanting them over again, line by line, after he had finished."

"Everywhere the people were in holiday mood, in fact, one German youth said to me, 'This is a holiday for us. Old men and young men in striped trousers and men in shirt sleeves, boys, storm troops, police, young girls of the domestic servant type, well-bred women, and even some women in the forties and over—all seemed to be having a good time.'

"This morning, as I walked along Kurfuerstendamm to inspect the broken windows, I passed in half an hour eight or ten persons, three obviously Jews, with bandaged heads, bandaged hands, and fresh, clean slings of plaster over their noses."

"This was a sight, I never had seen in Berlin before. It pretty obviously was connected with last night's circus."

U. S. Midshipman Put in Jail.

E. W. Wood of New York, a midshipman on the United States battleship Wyoming, was arrested during the riots and spent the night in jail. He was released today after paying a fine of 50 marks—about $20.

Several hundred midshipmen spending a holiday in Berlin witnessed the riots. Wood said he was standing on a cafe terrace when a woman was felled with fist blows. Another woman protested, the American said, whereupon she too was knocked down.

The big man who struck her turned to Wood, he related, and asked: "What do you think of that?"

Wood voiced his disapproval. The man persisted: "What are you going to do about it?"

A fight started. Police intervened and arrested Wood, who could not say whether his adversary was a Jew.

Wood is a composer of popular music. The rioting resulted in a "warning" to elements inimical to the state by the state police today. Demonstrations on the Kurfuerstendamm boulevard lasted until the early hours of the morning. The press called them putting a "dampener" on growing Jewish arrogance."

The police warning read: "It is understood that demonstrations against the provocative behavior of Jews once again yesterday attracted all sorts of dark elements like this they may pursue."

Fisher testified that the originals of more than 1000 telegrams sent from Warren had been burned. The witness denied he had anything to do with destruction of the originals, but said he had been suspended without pay "until I prove myself innocent."

He said he suspected Herron and an operator and had consulted an attorney to protect his interests. He said a messenger boy burned the telegrams at the request of the operator.

Fisher declared Herron came to him and said his superiors had asked him to have the original messages burned and asked him to do it.

"I told him I would not have anything to do with it," Fisher said, "because it might be incriminating to the Western Union."

"Then what did he say?" asked Chairman Black. "He changed the subject entirely and said they had asked him about throwing a bar of kerosene into the cellar."

Fisher said he and two superiors investigated a fire in the basement and found charred telegrams bearing on the utility bill and recognized several as being addressed to Representative Driscoll.

Ralph Sinamon Says He Acted on "Nuttie Impulse" When He Accosted John Agnitch.

Prisoner Declares He Bought Weapon but Did Not Know What He'd Do With It.

Ralph Sinamon, unemployed stationary engineer, who has admitted he shot and killed John Agnitch in an attempted holdup Sunday at the office of the City Ice & Fuel Co., at 2400 South Ninth street, told reporters today he acted on a "nuttie impulse."

"I don't know why I did it," said Sinamon, who is 37 years old, married and has a 16-year-old son. He has never before been arrested for any crime.

"Sunday I took my brother to church," he continued. "I parked the car on Broadway at Utah street, across from Lyon Park. Then I went for a walk. When I passed the ice plant I looked in and saw this man I alone in a desk."

"I drew the revolver and said, 'This is a stick up.' He grabbed my arm and twisted it so that the gun went off. Then I ran out."

Persons who saw Sinamon run from the ice plant told police in what direction he had gone. Fifteen minutes later they arrested him at Second and Dorcas streets, 10 blocks away.

Sinamon was shirtless, but in the weeds nearby police found a tan shirt that had been thrown away. Agnitch, struggling with the robber, had torn a wide strip from the front of the shirt. A cheap .38-caliber revolver from which one shot had been fired was in the weeds nearby.

Until last night Sinamon denied knowledge of the shooting and said he was Ralph Commer. Finally he told Assistant Circuit Attorney McLaughlin that if he could talk with Justice of the Peace Anton Seetric, he might "clear this up."

Seetric was sent for, and after he had talked with Sinamon for about an hour, Sinamon made his statement. He admitted that the torn shirt and the revolver found in the weeds were his.

Fifty-Cent Revolver.

The revolver, Sinamon said, was one he had bought for 50 cents two weeks ago from a stranger. When he bought it, he said, he had no idea of what he would do with it.

Sinamon lives at 9915 Lark avenue, St. Louis County. Until a month ago, he told police, he had been employed regularly at an over-all factory at a salary of $130 a month.

Agnitch, who was 47 years old, lived at 5745 Delor street. His widow and two children survive.

K. M. J. Lin Gets License to Marry Girl Who Returned His Lost Purse.

COLUMBUS, O., July 16.—K. M. J. Lin, son of the President of China, and Miss Viola Brown, clerk in a five-and-ten cent store in Columbus, have obtained a license to marry. They met when Lin left his pocketbook on a counter after making a recent purchase and Miss Brown returned it to him. The license was issued privately at Ashland, Ky., Sunday.

"So clever," Lin chuckled when asked for confirmation of the report. "It's true, but I wish no publicity. It was arranged at the Junior Chamber of Commerce convention. The Kentucky delegate made it possible." Lin said no date had been set for the wedding. Lin came here last fall to enter Ohio State University after studying at Columbia University in New York. He said he has written his parents in China about his plans to marry, but did not expect a reply for six weeks.

Court Declares American Was Victim of 'Plot by So-Called Nobility' to Get Money.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Supreme Court Justice Cottle handed down an opinion today, confirming the report on Special Referee Fay and annulling the marriage of Cledwin J. Ryan Jr., grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, and the youthful Marie Wurmbrand-Stupach, an Austrian Countess. Thomas F. Ryan left an estate of $153,164,000.

Justice Cottle declared the marriage was "a plot or scheme, concocted in a foreign country by means of a substantial sum of money, which he [the Countess] was to be used to relieve the existing financial distress of the defendant and her mother." Justice Cottle continued in his opinion.

He found that shortly after the Countess' marriage to Ryan Feb. 20, 1934, she informed her husband, after refusing to live with him, that she demanded the right to have sex relations with other men, and told him that he should seek such relations with other women.

The findings of the Court disclose that Mrs. Ryan's mother, Countess May Wurmbrand-Stupach, had been put in jail in Austria on criminal charges of defrauding creditors.

The decision remarked that Ryan "obviously was unaccustomed to dealing with the workings of a shrewd and cunning European mind and doubtless was attracted by the glamor of foreign titles and his contact with continental nobility."

He found that shortly after the Countess' marriage to Ryan Feb. 20, 1934, she informed her husband, after refusing to live with him, that she demanded the right to have sex relations with other men, and told him that he should seek such relations with other women.

Two Judges Sign Majority Opinion in Cotton Textile Mill Suit Chosen by Government for Test—Senior Justice Dissents.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, July 16.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals held unconstitutional today the processing and floor taxes imposed under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

The Court found that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has no authority to impose taxes under the Constitution or decisions of the Supreme Court.

The court's decision was given on a test case instituted by receivers of the Hoosac Mills, which sought recovery of $81,694 paid in processing and floor taxes on cotton used in manufacturing textiles.

The decision was signed by Judge Scott Wilson and George F. Morris. Judge George H. Bingham, senior justice, dissented, but wrote no opinion.

Excerpts From Opinion.

"It is clear," said the majority decision, that the main purpose of the act, "is to control and regulate the production of the so-called basic agricultural commodities of the several states, through agreements with the producers and in consideration of what is termed rental or benefit payments, to reduce acreage or production of such commodities in order to increase the current average price of such products to that elusive point where the returns to the farmer from the production of such commodities will purchase under present conditions the same amount of industrial products as he would be able to purchase under the five-year pre-war period from July, 1909, to August, 1914."

"The power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce does not extend to control and regulate the production of the so-called basic agricultural commodities of the several states, through agreements with the producers and in consideration of what is termed rental or benefit payments, to reduce acreage or production of such commodities in order to increase the current average price of such products to that elusive point where the returns to the farmer from the production of such commodities will purchase under present conditions the same amount of industrial products as he would be able to purchase under the five-year pre-war period from July, 1909, to August, 1914."

"The issue is not whether Congress has the power to regulate interstate commerce, but whether it has the power to regulate interstate commerce in such a way as to control and regulate the production of the so-called basic agricultural commodities of the several states, through agreements with the producers and in consideration of what is termed rental or benefit payments, to reduce acreage or production of such commodities in order to increase the current average price of such products to that elusive point where the returns to the farmer from the production of such commodities will purchase under present conditions the same amount of industrial products as he would be able to purchase under the five-year pre-war period from July, 1909, to August, 1914."

"The court also set forth that 'the power to determine what the law shall be, what property shall be affected by taxation, or regulation, and what standards shall govern the administrative officers in administering acts of Congress, has never been held to be an administrative function.'"

"The power to impose a tax and to determine what property shall be affected by taxation, or regulation, by the legislative department of the Government," the opinion said, "if Congress undertakes to lay down a guide for an administrative officer to follow in carrying out its mandates, it must be by an intelligible and a reasonably definite standard."

"The balance between production and consumption of certain commodities or the equalizing of the purchasing power thereof between certain widely separated periods alone forms no such standard."

"If Congress has the power to control or regulate the production of

SENATE VOTES TO RETAIN AAA PRICE-FIXING

Administration Gains Victory on Controversial Point by Narrow Margin, 40 to 38.

BYRD SAYS HE WILL RENEW FIGHT LATER

Tydings Cites Court Decision Against Processing Tax in His Attack on Measure.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Senate today voted, 40 to 38, to retain price-fixing in the AAA amendment bill. It was a narrow administrative victory on one of the most controversial features of the bill.

Senator Byrd (Dem., Virginia), who sought to have the price-fixing provision eliminated, gave notice he would renew the fight later.

Grand total against, 38.

Tydings' Attack.

Abandonment of efforts to control farm production and increase prices was urged by Senator Tydings (Dem., Maryland), following a decision by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Boston that the Agricultural Adjustment Act processing taxes are unconstitutional.

He mentioned the decision in the midst of a hot debate over the Administration's bill to strengthen the Farm Administration and forbid suits to recover the tax.

Senator Norris (Rep., Nebraska), said the pending measure was designed to make the processing levies constitutional if they were not so now.

Senator Ashurst (Rep., Arizona), jumped into the discussion with the assertion that "we are proposing seriously to tax the citizen and not let him go into court to test the validity of the tax. Recalling that even savages allowed the victims of torture to protest, Ashurst added: "We propose to torture the taxpayers and not let them writhe and cry out."

Price-Fixing Assailed.

FOUR SENTENCED TO DEATH IN CUBA FOR KIDNAPING

Capital Punishment Imposed for First Time for State Crime in Republic's History.

HAVANA, July 16.—The Urgency Court yesterday sentenced to death four men convicted of the kidnaping of Antonio San Miguel, 78-year-old multimillionaire.

It was the first time in the republic's history that a death sentence had been imposed on a kidnaper and they were the first such sentences under the recently enacted "Falla Law" against gangsterism.

The Falla law was decreed shortly after Eutimio Falla Bonet, young millionaire, was kidnaped and then freed after payment of $300,000 in United States currency.

Nine other defendants were acquitted. The death sentences, it is understood, will not be carried out until elections determine whether capital punishment is to be abolished.

The condemned men are: Gregorio Martin, Elizardo Salazarria, Ramon Suarez and Jose Diaz Garrido.

TELLS OF FAKING WIRED PROTESTS ON UTILITY BILL

lashing "unnecessary" holding companies was received by the House Rules Committee from Maverick.

For that reason, Maverick testified to the committee investigating lobbying for and against the utility bill, Brewster was invited to a meeting of Congressmen supporting the measure in the House.

Brewster testified last week that he had not made up his mind on the issue prior to the meeting of June 17, in the office of Thomas Corcoran, Reconstruction Finance Corporation attorney, and that no one but Corcoran knew his position at that time.

Brewster has contended that Corcoran threatened to halt construction of the Passamaquoddy tide-harnessing project in the Representative's district if he did not vote for holding company abolition desired by President Roosevelt. Corcoran denied this.

Story of June 17 Meeting.

Maverick said no one was invited to the meeting in Corcoran's office, which Maverick arranged, until he had ascertained the person invited was for the abolition clause.

"I asked him if he was for the Senate bill and the death sentence," Maverick testified, adding he had talked with Brewster on several previous occasions and found they saw alike on the power issue.

"He (Brewster) said, 'Yes.' "When I saw Mr. Brewster walk through the long line (in the Senate) vote by which the abolition provision was defeated, I like to have fell out of my chair," Maverick added.

Maverick testified Brewster agreed at the meeting to make a half hour speech for the "death sentence" and suggested writing a letter on the subject. He said Brewster appeared enthusiastic and in earnest in his stand for the Senate bill and gave no other indication "unless I am weak-minded and couldn't see it."

Maverick said that he never was approached by a lobbyist for the power companies.

AUDITOR SEEKING WAY TO COLLECT SALES TAX

Forrest Smith, in Washington, Finds Token Method Is Illegal.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Forrest Smith, State Auditor of Missouri, who had to cancel a contract for 15,000,000 tokens for use in connection with the Missouri sales tax law, came to Washington yesterday in an effort to find a solution of his problems.

After conferring with Treasury and Department of Justice officials, Smith said nothing tangible had developed. He plans to remain in Washington "until something definite" is worked out.

Treasury officials ruled states could not issue tokens, coupons or stamps, contending it would be a violation of the Federal Constitution. Some of the other states with sales tax laws are facing problems similar to Missouri's.

Smith let a contract for 10,000,000 one-cent tokens and 5,000,000 five-cent tokens, but canceled it when Federal officials told him they could not be issued and summoned him here for a conference.

Smith, who is administrator of the Missouri sales tax law, sought to issue the tokens in accordance with the State tax act in order to take care of the tax on small purchases. The present tax is one-half of one per cent, generally absorbed by the merchants, but effective Aug. 27 a 1 per cent tax goes into effect. The new act makes it mandatory for the merchant to pass the tax on to the consumer.

RESOLUTION TO ADJOURN CONGRESS KILLED IN HOUSE

Members Table Proposal, 111, to 45; Vote Almost Strictly on Party Lines.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The House today tabled, 111 to 45, a resolution to force adjournment of this session of Congress on next Tuesday.

The resolution—non-debatable—was offered by Representative Deen (Dem., Georgia). Immediately one of the Democratic leaders, Representative O'Connor of New York, moved it be tabled. This action killed it.

Speaker Byrnes announced O'Connor's motion had carried on a voice vote, but a standing vote was demanded. On that, the count was 111 to 45. The vote was almost strictly on party lines, six other Democrats voting with Deen and against the motion to table. Two Republicans joined the Democrats. Later a roll call vote was taken and the adjournment move was rejected, 261 to 86.

Just before Deen offered his resolution, Representative Woodrum (Dem., Virginia), made a brief speech in which he said he agreed "100 per cent" with those who thought Congress should "speedily adjourn."

Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee, said today after a series of conferences between administration leaders that Congress would stay in session to pass President Roosevelt's tax program and that there was no contemplation of a special session in the fall. The President, Harrison told newspaper men, wants the tax program considered at this session. He predicted that would be done.

TWO-CENT HAWAIIAN STAMP SOLD IN LONDON FOR $10,250

Final Receipts for Collection of Late Arthur M. Hind Total $850,000.

LONDON, July 16.—A two-cent Hawaiian stamp with a small defect was sold at Harmer's Bond Street Galleries here recently for $10,250. It was one of a group of Hawaiian stamps that swelled the final day's sales of the famous Hind stamp collection by $37,500.

The Hawaiian group was spoken of as the missionary because the majority of them were found on letters from missionaries for the United States who went to the islands early in the nineteenth century.

Final receipts for the collection made by the late Arthur M. Hind, American millionaire, totaled about $850,000. It required more than a year to hold the 11 auctions to dispose of the collection, said to have been one of the finest made.

Another Hawaiian stamp, identical with the one bringing the top price, but repaired at the lower left-hand corner, realized $7500. A 5-cent type stamp, part of the original cover in conjunction with two 5-cent American stamps, brought $3250.

FLEEING MAN SHOT IN BACK

Texas Sheriff Arrests Agent Lacking Permit to Carry Weapon.

EL PASO, Tex., July 16.—R. A. Clemens, 35 years old, of Atlanta, Ga., was shot in the back when he ran handcuffed, from a bus in Las Cruces, N. M., today, according to Sheriff Doo Lucero.

Clemens was brought to a hospital here. Attendents said he was not in immediate danger.

H. J. Leroy, agent for the Fred R. Stokes Bond Co. of Atlanta, was held in the Dona Ana County jail for investigation. Sheriff Lucero said Leroy apparently had no permit to carry a weapon and did not carry a special officer's commission.

Leroy told Sheriff Lucero that Clemens was convicted on a lottery charge in Atlanta, and sentenced to six months in jail there. Officials at Independence, Cal., arrested Clemens and Leroy went to California to return the prisoner.

AAA Tax Held Invalid By U. S. Appeals Court

agricultural products within the several states, and assess a tax on their processing or sale for that purpose, it is obviously legislative in character. Query, then, has Congress set up any definite standard for the Secretary's action in making rental or benefit payments to producers and thereby imposing a processing tax?

"We find no definite, intelligible standard, set up in the act for determining when the Secretary shall pay rental or benefit payments in order to reduce production of any particular commodity, except in his own judgment as to what will effectuate the purpose of the act."

No Findings Required.

"The declaration of the emergency in the Agricultural Act contains no such standard for the Secretary of Agriculture to follow in entering into restrictive agreement with producers of agricultural products. It is merely a statement of conditions, which in the judgment of Congress warranted legislative action."

"Without requiring any findings to warrant his action, Congress has empowered him, in conjunction with the producers, to determine when a reduction of acreage or production of any one of the agricultural commodities which it has termed basic should be resorted to, to accomplish the act, when rental or benefit payments are to be made and in what amounts, and thereby to determine, through the initiation of the benefit payments or rentals, the consequent imposition of a tax."

"The Secretary made no findings of facts as to why he selected the first list of basic commodities for reducing acreage or production, and was not required to do so. He simply made a proclamation; rental and/or benefit payments are to be made with respect to cotton; and a processing tax automatically followed."

Code or Agreement Same.

"While the amount of the reduction of acreage or production of any basic commodity under this act is done by agreement and not by a code, the purpose and the result is the same viz: The control and regulation of a great intrastate industry."

"If Congress can take over the control of any intrastate business by a declaration of an economic emergency and a public interest in its regulation, it would be difficult to define the limits of the powers of Congress or to foretell the future limitations of local self-government."

"No standard or guide is here laid down to determine how the compensating tax shall be fixed or what elements shall be taken into consideration in determining the amount except that it shall be determined by the amount necessary to prevent such disadvantage in competition. We find no decision of the Supreme Court authorizing such a delegation of power to an administrative officer."

"On the contrary, the recent decision in the Panama Refining Co. case and the Schechter Poultry Corporation case, we think, clearly condemn it as unwarranted under the Constitution."

"If Congress has invaded a field over which it has no control under the Constitution, or the Secretary has been unlawfully vested with legislative powers, the exercise of which has affected these appellants, it is not necessary to consider whether the processing and floor taxes are direct taxes, or, if excise taxes, are not uniformly laid."

Lower Court's Ruling.

The case had been appealed from the Federal District Court, where Judge Elisha H. Brewster ruled against the textile company.

"The decree of the District Court is reversed and the case is remanded to that court with directions to enter a decree for the appellants."

The Circuit Court took the appeal of the Hooacac receivers under consideration April 23. Yesterday Judge Brewster hinted that he believed the District Court finding might be reversed by the Circuit Court as he ordered continuation of a temporary injunction preventing collection of processing taxes from four New Bedford mills and a Fall River corporation.

The collection of some $700,000 of processing taxes hinges on the question of the constitutionality of the act.

The Hooacac Mills suit was one of many brought by textile corporations which sought recovery of taxes paid, on constitutional grounds. It was chosen by United States attorneys as a test case to be carried to the United States Supreme Court, chiefly because of the success of the Government in obtaining a favorable decision in the District Court.

Government Expects to Appeal Promptly to Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Prompt appeal to the Supreme Court of the adverse ruling on the constitutionality of AAA processing taxes by the Circuit Court of Appeals at Boston was promised today by Justice Department attorneys. Previously Government attorneys had said a final decision on constitutionality of the AAA and the processing taxes was expected "before Christmas."

Illinois Federal Judge Issues Injunction Against AAA Taxes.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 16.—Holding that "the constitutionality of the AAA was at least doubtful," Federal District Judge Charles Briggs issued an order yesterday restraining the Collector of Internal Revenue from collecting processing taxes from 12 Southern Illinois companies.

The injunction suits were filed by 11 milling companies and one packing firm. They were: Fowles & Beggs Packers, Inc., Jacksonville; Stanard Tilton Milling Co., Alton; Sparks Milling Co., Alton; Commonwealth Flour Mills, Inc., East St. Louis; Pfeiffer Flouring Co., East St. Louis; Treston Milling Co., Trenton; C. Becker Milling Co., Red Bud; Randolph Milling Co., Ava; Reichert Milling Co., and the Freeburg Milling Co., Freeburg; Hanover Star Milling Co., Germantown, and Schults, Baujan & Co., Beardstown.

The suits are based on an attack on the Laclede Company charter, which, the petitioners declare, has expired. The suit does not attack the company's franchise as such, but alleges that the company, having no charter rightfully, cannot claim exercise franchise rights.

The court is asked, in the petition, to decree that the company's property belongs to its stockholders, and to appoint a receiver to sell the property and pay off the bond, and preserve litigation, to conduct the business for preservation of its value and in the public interest.

Restraining Order Sought.

Appointment of a receiver pendente lite is also asked, to take charge of the property pending the litigation and administer it under the court's orders. The court is asked to enjoin the company, against recourse to a debtor's petition under the National Bankruptcy Act, or taking any other action for reorganization.

The receivership suit filed against the gas company June 1 by J. Lionberger Davis, president of the Security National Bank Savings and Trust Co., is still pending. Soon afterward, it was announced that Davis and his attorney, Wilbur E. Jones, had been added to the board of directors of the gas company, and it was anticipated that Davis' suit would be dismissed, but this has not been done. A suit against the company for an accounting, filed in 1933 by Louis M. Monheim, a merchandising manager of Famous-Barr, is under advisement before Circuit Judge Ryan.

Davis' receivership petition charged mismanagement of the gas company, and waste of its assets, and stated that it would be useless to seek relief through the company itself, as it was "completely dominated and controlled by the Utilities Light and Power Corporation, a holding company."

Defendants in Suit.

Davis and Jones are included among the defendants named in the Kelley-Sale-Wolff receivership suit. Others are the officers and directors of the gas company, the list including Harley L. Clarke, board chairman, who is head of the holding company, and E. P. Gosling, president of the gas company.

Others named as defendants are D. H. Bender, J. N. Canavan, H. L. Fogg, W. A. Horner, Francis E. Matthews, H. T. Pritchard, E. L. White, P. B. Shaw, A. L. Jackson, M. E. Fowell, R. K. Monroe, and the unknown trustees, officers, directors and shareholders of a defunct corporation called the Laclede Gas Light Co., and the unknown holders of certificates representing or purporting to represent shares of capital stock in a defunct corporation called the Laclede Gas Light Co., also unknown bondholders, creditors and claimants.

The petition sets forth the act of March 2, 1887, by which the Missouri Legislature granted a charter to the Laclede company, subject to renewal after 30 years. Amendatory acts are then cited, and it is set forth that March 28, 1888, the Legislature adopted an amending statute repealing one section of the original act. This section had given the city power to buy the company after 20 years, or in 1877. The same section provided that, if such purchase were not made, the charter should be renewed for 30 years.

Contention as to Charter.

It is contended in the suit that, because of the repeal of this section, the company's charter expired in 1887; but that even if it were held to have been renewed then, for 30 years, it would have expired in 1917, and in any case would now be, in the language of the petition, "defunct."

At the time when the charter expired, whether in 1887 or 1917, the petition charges, "the last validly constituted president and board of directors breached and disregarded their duties as liquidating trustees, failed and refused to liquidate the property, assets and business, and in violation of express duties imposed on them by law, continued, conducted and carried on the business as a going concern, as fully to the same extent as if the Suit for a receivership for "a defunct corporation called the Laclede Gas Light Co." was filed today in Circuit Court in behalf of Joseph M. The suit is based on an attack on the Laclede Company charter, which, the petitioners declare, has expired. The suit does not attack the company's franchise as such, but alleges that the company, having no charter rightfully, cannot claim exercise franchise rights.

ROBBERS GET $640. AT WELLSTON STORE

Western Auto Supply Co.'s Branch Held Up—Two Flee in Auto.

The Wellston branch store of the Western Auto Supply Co., 5906 Easton avenue, was robbed of $640 at 8:45 a. m. today by two men armed with revolvers, who fled in an automobile.

One man entered the store half an hour before the holdup and bought a roll of friction tape. He returned and made an exchange for a different kind of tape. When a clerk opened the cash register the man drew two revolvers and ordered, "Leave it open," at the same time tossing one revolver to a second man who had entered.

The second robber ordered five customers, James L. Masters, the manager, three clerks and Miss Virginia Rattini, cashier to the rear of the store. His companion emptied the cash register and the safe of all money, except a few pennies, and both ran to their automobile and sped away.

Miss Rattini told police she had noticed the men in the parked car when she came to work.

Jasper J. Assistant District Attorney Freer did not oppose parole, and told the Court that Mangiaracina had been drinking when he wrote the note, had no criminal record and was supporting aged grandparents on pay of a 4-week.

The letter instructed De Bello to drop the money at a designated time and place in an alley near his home, when he heard a command to "drop it."

ADMINISTRATOR'S DEDUCTION OF $100 REFUNDED TO ESTATE

One of Those Made After Judge Arnold Declined to Approve Charges.

A $100 deduction from the assets of a small estate made by Public Administrator Sheehan before the strike was refunded on his official bond has been refunded by the Administrator, it was disclosed today in the final settlement approved by Probate Judge Arnold. The estate with assets valued at $17,000 is that of J. J. Sims, 4045 Cook avenue, who died in May, 1932.

The refund is one of those made by Sheehan after Judge Arnold declined to approve charges made against estates in excess of the actual cost of Sheehan's bond.

Sheehan has been administrator of the Sims estate since June, 1933, and his legal commissions, other than the charge for bond premium, have amounted to $1418.

FIRING BY MAYOR OF 118 THREATENS HIS LEGISLATION

Street Department Reorganization Bill Likely to Fail Due to Widened Split With Aldermen.

The discharge by Mayor Dickmann Saturday of 118 city employees, in addition to 34 previous dismissals, has widened the breach between the Mayor and the 17 anti-Dickmann Aldermen to the extent where the administration's bill to reorganize the Street Department, now pending in the Board, may fail of passage.

Failure of the board to pass the bill will mean the discharge of 59 employees of the Street Department who have been carried on the payroll for several years without ordinance authority. Included in those to be dismissed will be the entire crew of street flusher operators, thus crippling this branch of the city's service. Other sections of the department will be seriously hampered in the opinion of Director of Streets and Sewers McDevitt.

Change in Attitude.

McDevitt said today that Alderman O'Connor of the Sixteenth Ward, chairman of the aldermanic Streets Committee, told him early last week an effort would be made to report the bill out of committee and bring it up for passage Friday. Since the wholesale dismissals Saturday, however, the Aldermen have apparently changed their minds and in informal discussions yesterday indicated that they saw no use in passing the bill since most of their constituents in the Streets Departments and other department will probably be discharged anyway.

Some of the Aldermen, whose relatives or friends have been dropped from the payroll, are expected to oppose the Street Department bill. In this group are Aldermen Lichten, Thirion, Ward, Peters, and Fitzsimmons of the Eighteenth, Fitzsimmons of the Eighteenth and Brown of the Ninth.

Heretofore, most of the hostile Aldermen have shown a disposition to "go along" with the Mayor and his legislation, but in large number of dismissals Saturday has antagonized the Aldermen to such an extent that their attitude now is to fight the Mayor and his department heads on their legislative proposals.

Pay Increases for Two Opposed.

Some of the Aldermen oppose the street department reorganization bill because it provides increases in salary for Joseph A. Fuechter, engineer, and John L. Ryan, accountant, both associated with McDevitt's business. The bill also provides for a 10 per cent increase in salary for department superintendents whom the Aldermen feel have always been loyal Democratic workers. Among the loyal group are John J. Keegan, superintendent of street cleaning; Joseph J. Mestres, superintendent of excavations, and Joseph Slay, superintendent of the garbage section, all of whom were active in politics before their appointment.

Some of the hostile Aldermen also think that Dickmann has committed political suicide by the wholesale discharge of city employees, not only because he has alienated these employees and their families, but has also incurred the enmity of the party leaders who secured their appointments. Some of the Aldermen feel that even though Dickmann is renominated for Mayor in 1937 he cannot be re-elected because "a large group of disgruntled Democrats will vote for the Republican candidate in preference to voting for the man who discharged members of their party from their city positions."

The director of the United States Employment service, Frank Persons, recently wrote to Gov. Park that the Federal service would not renew its affiliation with the State service, until the State service complied with the standards prescribed by the United States Employment Service.

Python Crushes Trainer At Frank Buck's Camp

Man Rescued From Coils of 26-Foot Snake After 5 Minutes But Is Seriously Injured —Lion Mauls Keeper.

By the Associated Press.

AMITYVILLE, N. Y., July 16.—A python and a lion went on a rampage at Frank Buck's Wild Animal Camp yesterday and injured two men.

Otis Lloyd, a trainer, was crushed in the coils of the serpent, which had writhed loose from the hands of six men.

Stuart Roe, another trainer, was charged by a full-grown lion which broke from its keepers as they were taking it from a temporary cage. Roe's arms and shoulders were torn.

At Reed Hospital attendants said Lloyd was "very seriously injured" and that an operation had been performed to save his right arm. The extent of his injuries will not be known, they said, until X-ray photographs of his entire body had been developed.

The python 26 feet long, was being carried from the cage in which it had been shipped from the Malay jungle. It was stretched out, but suddenly it convulsed, throwing off the hands of those carrying it and wrapping itself around Lloyd.

Lloyd shouted for help, but it was five minutes, a witness said, before four men could drag the snake from him. The trapped man gasped directions to his rescuers.

Most of the other trainers on duty were required to subdue the lion. Both it and the serpent were eventually housed in their permanent cages.

Fred Blue, head elephant trainer at the camp, said Lloyd was "the coolest thing I ever saw."

"He didn't faint, although several times it looked as if he would. He is an experienced snake man, and knew what to tell the other men to do."

"The animals always get excited when we transfer them from one cage to another, but how the python got loose, nobody knows."

Buck is in Singapore, Blue said. The python was included in a large shipment of animals and snakes which arrived Saturday.

FORMER HEAD OF PAINT FIRM FILES BANKRUPTCY PETITION

Leo F. Faust Lists Liabilities of $27,800, Assets $117; Unsecured Debt of $18,300.

Leo F. Faust, former president of the bankrupt Faust Paint Co., filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court yesterday, listing liabilities of $27,800 and assets of $117.

Among the liabilities are secured debts of $5348 and unsecured claims of $22,454. The largest unsecured debt is $18,300 owed to Max H. McClure, 114 Plant avenue, Webster Groves, and John H. Meyer, 4330 Ellenwood avenue, for a contract for the purchase of 366 shares of common stock in the Faust Paint Co. Also listed in the schedules is a debt of $5000 owed to the Manchester Bank, secured by 99 shares of common stock of the company. Assets consist of $17 in household goods and an automobile valued at $100.

The paint firm, which filed a voluntary petition on May 15, had previously been in the hands of a Circuit Court receiver, who was discharged in January, 1934. The receivership petition had been filed in March, 1932, by Faust and Charles M. Wolff, who alleged the company was solvent but that dissension within the business and general trade conditions made a receivership advisable.

AUTOPSIES IN DEATHS OF TWO IN ROMAN BATH

Analysis to Be Made of Stomach Contents of American Woman and Briton.

By the Associated Press.

TIVOLI, Italy, July 16.—Investigation of the deaths of Mrs. May Katherine Thompson, 40 years old, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and H. N. Scott, English manager of the American Express Co. in Italy, in a cabin of the fashionable sulphur baths at Acque Adule Sunday, was continued today.

A doctor treated them for asphyxiation from sulphur fumes in a futile attempt to revive them, but police ordered an autopsy when glasses containing a red liquid were found in the room. Attendances said the liquor was wine, but a chemical test was made of the liquid and of the contents of the victims' stomachs.

Mrs. Thompson, in a bathingsuit, was lying in a tub through which the water flowed. Scott also in a bathingsuit, sat in a chair at the other end of the cabin, into which sulphur water comes from a spring. Officials said it was possible for Mrs. Thompson to have died from the fumes because she disregarded a warning posted in the cabin not to enter the tub before the water reached the top and before all dangerous vapors were released. They expressed doubt, however, that Scott could have died from the fumes.

A possible explanation, medical examiners said, was that the two had drunk more wine than they realized and that their condition increased the effect of the sulphur vapors.

Mrs. Thompson, an art teacher whose husband is Edwin F. Thompson of Brooklyn, arrived in Rome on a tour a little more than a week ago.

E. ST. LOUIS WOMAN ACCUSED OF PART IN $85 ROBBERY

Mrs. May Kirksey, Widow of Man Killed by Deputies in Raid, Is Named in Warrant.

Mrs. May Kirksey, 26 years old, whose husband, James Hickey, was killed last December by deputy sheriffs in a raid on a Signal Hill home, was charged with being an accessory before the fact in a robbery, in a warrant issued by an East St. Louis police magistrate last night.

Mrs. Kirksey was arrested when a man who told police he was William Lee of St. Louis complained he had been robbed of $85 by an armed man at Mrs. Kirksey's home, 310 North Third street. He said Mrs. Kirksey signalled to the man after learning how much money he had.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH SIOUX CITY MAYOR OUSTED BY COURT

Action Follows Grand Jury Investigation Into Charges of Graft.

By the Associated Press.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 16.—

Mayor W. D. Hayes of Sioux City was suspended from office yesterday, two days after a grand jury had recommended his removal for failure to act on lawless conditions here. The petition for removal was filed by H. M. Havner and Ole Nagledstad, special prosecutors for the

ordered by District Judge A. D.

Wakfield.

Attached to the petition was an affidavit by Charles I. Small, Commissioner of Streets, setting forth that Mayor Hayes, in a conversation regarding alleged graft and protection payoffs, had told him in substance, "We don't care how much money they get, Charles, as long as they leave us alone."

Mayor Hayes declined to comment on his suspension.

Charges in Affidavit.

Small's affidavit said that after his election in 1934, the Mayor asked him, "What do you expect out of this job beside your salary?"

The affidavit said Small answered, "I have lived in Sioux City

32 years and have had in my hands

hundreds of thousands of dollars of other people's money and have never taken a cent, and do not expect to start it now."

To this, the affidavit set forth, Mayor Hayes replied: "Well, I just wanted to know what your idea was of the job."

Small's affidavit said that at no time since he had taken office had Mayor Hayes asked the City Council to act "with reference to controlling the general situation concerning illegal or unlawful sale of liquor or the illegal operation of gambling, slot machines or other gambling in Sioux City."

Acting Mayor Takes Office.

City Finance Commissioner D. Spence Lewis took over the job of Acting Mayor to replace Hayes.

Two other officials here have stepped out of office under pressure and indictments have been returned against 45 persons, ranging from Iowa Attorney-General Edward O'Connor on charges of conspiracy to operate gambling devices, down to lesser local police characters charged with illegal liquor dealings. Max Duckworth, former Woodbury County attorney, and Henry C. Kuhlmann, former city safety commissioner, resigned while ouster proceedings were pending.

CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR SIGNS OLD AGE PENSION MEASURE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 16.—

Gov. Merriam signed the Old Age Pension Act yesterday and reaffirmed his support of the $200-a-month Townsend plan.

Gov. Merriam said: "I supported the Townsend plan, and the day is coming when that plan or one similar to it will be in effect."

The Governor advocated compulsory retirement insurance to which all would contribute in their years of earning power, and said:

"Pensions to the aged and to public employees are placing a tremendous burden on taxpayers. It would be better for the taxpayer to start when young making retirement annuity payments to the state or Federal Government."

Effective Sept. 15, hundreds of men and women not now receiving pensions will become eligible, as the minimum age requirement drops from 70 to 65. Instead of present pensions averaging less than $20 a month, payments not less than $20 and up to $35 will be made, financed equally by the State and by counties. The act declares a State policy of providing the maximum $35 pension for all eligible aged without other means of support.

Associated Press Correction.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—In a news item on the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission on June 25 in denying the application of carriers to establish and maintain local and proportional rates on grain and grain products in the South, the Associated Press erroneously said the application had been submitted by the Federal Barge Lines. The carriers sought the rates from St. Louis, East St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., to Mobile, Ala., with out observing the long and short haul provisions. When the hearing was held representatives of the inland Waterways Corporation, operating the Federal barge lines offered testimony in opposition to the granting of the requested authority.

DECREASE IN FAMILIES ON RELIEF IN COUNTY

Reduction Said to Be Due to Seasonal Increase in Employment.

The number of families under the care of the St. Louis County Relief Committee, the agency in charge of Federal relief work in the county, decreased 10 per cent during the month of June, and the number receiving material aid was decreased by 8.4 per cent during the same month, Howard M. Slutes, administrator, said today.

Last month 7697 families were under the care of the agency, a decrease of 854 from the number of families cared for during May when the total was 8551. Of these, 5382 received direct relief, 538 less than the 6370 families who received such aid in May.

The decreases in the number under care of the agency and the number receiving Federal relief is due, Slutes said, to a seasonal increase in employment and to elimination of several cases after a more thorough investigation.

Expenditures for direct relief were increased during the month by $15,137, being $130,740 for June as compared with $115,603 for May. These were increased as the result of an increased allotment by the FERA to St. Louis County.

Employment was extended by the agency through various work relief projects to 2640 individuals last month, an increase of 14 over the prior month. For this purpose $99,329 of FERA funds was expended, $14,274 less than that spent during May, the difference being due to the fact that during May there were five weekly pay days for those on work relief.

House Passes Toll Bridge Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A bill to authorize the Secretary of War to prescribe "just and reasonable tolls" on toll bridges built over navigable waters of the United States before 1906 and used for travel or transportation in interstate commerce was passed yesterday by the House and sent to the Senate. Under present law, the Secretary may regulate tolls on bridges erected since 1906.

NO AGREEMENT ON G. O. P. COMMITTEEMAN

City and County Leaders Fail to Unite on Man to Succeed Clements.

St. Louis and St. Louis County members of the Republican State Committee met again yesterday at City Committee headquarters in the Title Guaranty Building and again failed to agree on a successor to Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican National Committeeman from Missouri, who was killed recently in an automobile accident near Hunnewell, Mo.

The entire State Committee will meet at Columbia Monday on call of Grover W. Dalton, State chairman, to elect a successor to Dr. Clements. The St. Louis and St. Louis County members had hoped to agree on a candidate from this district, but two meetings have failed to bring about an agreement and it is doubtful whether another meeting of the local group will be held before the State Committee meeting next week.

Failure of the local factions to agree on a candidate places the out-State Republican group in which Arthur M. Hyde of Trenton, former Governor and Secretary of Agriculture in the Hoover Cabinet is a dominating factor, at a distinct advantage. The out-State group, it is thought, can now obtain sufficient votes to elect an out-State candidate. Hyde is said to favor William E. Phares of Maryville, former Republican State Chairman, and a former member of the State Highway Commission. Among the candidates discussed at the meeting yesterday were former Collector Edmund Koeln, Clarence Case, an attorney; William T. Nardin, vice-president of the Pet Milk Co.; Circuit Judge Granville Hogan, William R. Orthwein, attorney, and George M. Hagee, attorney. There was no attempt to take a vote on any of the candidates.

Committeeman Tom Nester of St. Louis said he would not attend the Columbia meeting because of the failure of the local group to agree on a candidate.

22 Kansas City Republicans Urge Selection of Homer B. Mann.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 16.—Seventy-two Kansas City Republicans have signed letters sent to members of the State committee, proposing Homer B. Mann of Kansas City to succeed the late Dr. E. B. Clements as Republican National Committeeman.

Friends of William Phares of Maryville, former State chairman, said they could count on 12 votes out of the 52 in the State committee, while supporters of Arthur M. Curtis of Springfield, also a former State chairman, asserted he had 10. Friends of Theodore W. Hukriede of Warrenton, former United States Marshal, said 12 votes had been pledged to him.

The eight members of the State committee from Jackson County are undecided. Three have denied reports they will be bound by the unit rule.

MUSSOLINI ABOUT TO COMPLETE HIS ARMY IN AFRICA

Mobilization of Two New Divisions Expected to Prepare Italy for Campaign.

REPORT IS PREMIER WILL GO ALONG

But Informed Circles Express Doubt of This—Prince Humbert May Be Substitute.

By the Associated Press. ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 16.—Official circles disclosed today that Ethiopia had begun extensive defensive military preparations "to meet an emergency."

It was said the military step was found necessary due to the failure of arbitration and also because of declarations that Italy intended to use force against Ethiopia.

The officials said that while a general mobilization order had not been issued by Emperor Haile Selassie, this step was expected shortly.

By the Associated Press. ROME, July 16.—Italian military leaders said today that the mobilization of two new divisions would make Italy ready for any eventuality in East Africa.

This confidence was based on military opinion that for the present at least, 10 white divisions, aided by some 75,000 native troops in the colonies of Eritrea and Somalia, would be more sufficient for a push into Ethiopia.

Thousands of Blackshirt volunteers flocked to registration quarters, eager to join the new Blackshirt division created yesterday to take part in the campaign against Emperor Haile Selassie.

The army machinery was speeded up to effect rapid mobilization of the Sila division of the regular army, also called out yesterday, and to supply Premier Mussolini with recruits for a Sila second di-

VATICAN PROTESTS, ALLEGES NAZIS VIOLATED CONCORDAT

Strong Note, Objecting on Three Points, Is Sent to German Government.

VATICAN CITY, July 16.—It was learned today the Vatican had protested strongly to the German Government against its failure to carry out terms of the Concordat with the Vatican.

The note sent to Berlin follows the lines of the vigorous statement published on the front page of the newspaper Osservatore Romano yesterday. It protests on these three points:

1. Forcing Catholics to abide by the Nazi sterilization law.
2. Encroachment on the free existence of Catholic lay organizations.
3. Attacks on the freedom of the Catholic press.

Dispatch of the note was ascribed to the Vatican's view that opposition to the Catholic Church in Germany, hitherto unofficial, may now be regarded as official.

vision to replace the original unit in Italy.

Total of 250,000 Men. An official communique announced that about 35,000 men were involved in the new mobilization, bringing the total of troops already in East Africa or destined for service to 250,000 men. About 20,000 are regular soldiers and 15,000 Blackshirt Fascist militiamen. Rumors circulated that Mussolini himself intended to go to one or both of the Italian colonies to inspect the preparations there. He has a penchant for stimulating personally all Government projects.

Informed circles expressed doubt that he would make such an inspection tour at present because of the pressure of business in Rome, but said they thought Crown Prince Humbert might set forth soon on a visit to East Africa.

That Italy's concentration in Africa had not diverted its attention entirely from its European defenses was indicated by orders for construction of 10 submarines.

The authoritative newspaper Giornale d'Italia—which often reflects the Italian Government's views—said flatly today that no diplomatic formula for settlement of the Italian-Ethiopian dispute could be found.

Such formulae, the newspaper said, "are capable only of altering the conditions of the conflict without eliminating its inevitability."

The steamer Argentina sailed yesterday from Naples for East Africa with 300 workmen. The steamer Caffaro also departed for an East African port with war materials, destined for use after the rainy season ends in September.

The aircraft carrier Miraglia departed from Naples today for Massaua, Eritrea, carrying 20 airplanes and 80 pilots. The Undersecretary of Air, Gen. Giuseppe Valle, went from Rome to make his farewells to the pilots.

There are six ships in the Port of Naples loading men and supplies for East Africa.

Egypt Said to Have Barred Camel Shipments to Eritrea.

LONDON, July 16.—A dispatch to the Reuters News Agency from Cairo, Egypt, says it is understood that the Government has forbidden export of Egyptian camels to the Italian colony of Eritrea. The dispatch says this action followed reports of increased activity by Italian agents.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS BEAT MOVE TO OUST ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT

Vote 16 to 2 Against Removal of President's Son as State Vice-President.

By the Associated Press. FORT WORTH, Tex., July 16.—Executive Committee members of the Young Democrats of Texas voted down, 16 to 2, today a resolution seeking to oust Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, as vice-president of the State organization. The President's son had been referred to as the "Crown Prince" and rubber stamp from the East.

It was the second, and final, defeat for anti-Roosevelt forces in a month. A previous attempt to have an ouster resolution approved was beaten at a meeting of the Dallas County Young Democrats.

Phil Overton, Dallas attorney, said no further attempts would be made to have Elliott Roosevelt unseated. Overton's contention that Roosevelt had been illegally elected by Executive Committee action April 13, 1934, was overruled by Raymond Buck of Fort Worth, chairman of the Executive Committee.

5 MEXICAN YOUTHS KILLED IN FIGHT ON TABASCO DICTATOR

Students Lose Lives in Campaign Against Tomas Garrido Canabal, Anti-Church Leader.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., July 15.—Students organized an expedition today against Villa Hermosa, Tabasco, to avenge five of their companions who were killed in a campaign against Tomas Garrido Canabal, dictator of the State.

The conflict was precipitated after 20 young Tabasco students returned to their native State yesterday to contest the political rule of the anti-church leader.

An official report from Gov. Manuel Lastra Ortiz, terming the student group "clericals," said they had attacked members of the red shirt "bloc of young revolutionists."

Telegrams from Rudoifo Brito Foucher, leader of the students, however, said Garrido, Gov. Lastra and other officials opened machine-gun fire on his companions while they were walking through the streets.

Manuel Brito Foucher, Cesar Pedredo, Juarez Medina, Bernardo Calzad and Jovito Perez were killed by the machine-gun fire. Two followers of Garrido—Antonio Garcia and Miguel Serrano—were killed in a later clash.

Five students and two State deputies were wounded.

Investigation Promised.

In the absence of President Lazaro Cardenas, who is in Jalisco, his private secretary, Luis J. Rodriguez, promised 4000 students who thronged about the National Palace that an impartial investigation would be made and that those responsible for the killings would be punished.

Representatives of the President departed by airplane for Tabasco. From Guadalajara, Cardenas instructed military authorities to provide guarantees for the surviving members of the student group, who took refuge in the Federal garrison at Villa Hermosa.

After parading to the palace here, students proceeded to newspaper offices, where speakers shouted, "Death to Garrido."

With cries of "Burn Garrido's house," the crowd then marched toward his residence. Heavy rains thinned the ranks, however, and the few who approached the house were dispersed.

Student leaders said they intended to "force Garrido to leave the country." They arranged demonstrations to be held in the capital and other cities.

Action Tip to Cardenas.

Authoritative sources said President Cardenas would be forced to take decisive action to prevent the situation from getting out of hand.

Garrido, who has boasted there is neither a church nor a saloon open in Tabasco, came into national prominence last December, when President Cardenas named him to the Cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture.

He brought with him to the capital a young radical organization known as "Red Shirts," which soon began a violent anti-Catholic campaign, the principal incident of which was the killing of five Catholics in a Mexico City suburb last December.

The retirement of former President Plutarco Elias Calles from politics and Garrido's subsequent resignation when Cardenas revamped his Cabinet last month had encouraged opponents to believe the moment was opportune for an attempt to end Garrido's rule.

Two Student Paraders Shot to Death at Monterrey.

MONTERREY, Mexico, July 15.—Two delegates to the National University Students' Congress were killed today by shots fired into a crowd of paraders.

CITY EXPENDITURES AND RECEIPTS DROP

Revenue Cut Account for by Later Payment of Union Electric Franchise Tax.

Both receipts and expenditures of the city for the first quarter of the fiscal year 1935-36 which ended July 9 decreased from the corresponding period last year, Comptroller Nolte reported today. Receipts dropped from $1,714,912 last year to $1,537,998 this year, a decrease of $176,914. Expenditures decreased from $4,511,596 last year to $4,444,519 this year, a drop of $67,076.

The decrease in receipts can be accounted for by the fact that the Union Electric Light and Power Co. paid its franchise tax of $292,000 earlier last year. This year the payment was made too late to be included in receipts for the first quarter.

The largest decrease in expenditures was in the item for election expenses, which was $77,121 less this year, to the fact that last year's expenses included those for two primary and two general elections while there have been no elections the past quarter.

Receipts for the Water Department increased $24,268 for from $864,039 last year to $888,247 this year. Expenses of the department were $472,021 last year and $488,920 this year, an increase of $16,899.

Among the larger increases in expenses this year were in the Fire Department, $46,413; Police Department, $30,324; Board of Children's Guardians, $25,938; City Hospital, $15,514 and telephone exchange, $11,064. Besides the Election board, the following departments had decreases of more than $10,000: Public utilities, $68,162; Municipal Auditorium, $26,655; Park maintenance, $24,216; Street lighting, $13,389, and president, board of Public Service, $11,527.

ART MUSEUM GETS 12TH CENTURY WINDOW

Medieval Stained Glass From France Depicts Resurrection of Christ.

A medieval stained glass window, depicting the passion and resurrection of Christ, has been acquired by City Art Museum in Forest Park and is now on view in Gallery 12.

The long, narrow window consists of four panels, each about 13 inches wide by 25 inches in height. It dates from the end of the twelfth century and comes from the vicinity of the ancient town of La Fleche, in France, a district noted for its rich heritage of early glass.

But little of the glass of this early date has survived the accidents of time and the vandalism of later centuries, even in the larger churches. Still less has come into the possession of museums and private collectors. The example now at the museum is considered remarkable not alone for its date, but also because only 15 per cent of it represents replacements made in restoration.

The Panels.
In the course of reconstruction the order of the panels probably has been changed, as it does not follow the chronological sequence. In the lowest panel, the Three Holy Women are seen at the tomb of Christ, with an angel pointing to the empty sepulchre.

The panel above depicts the Crucifixion. The cross is flanked by the figures of the Virgin and St. John and above there are roundels representing the sun and the moon, gazing in awe at the divine sacrifice.

The third panel, as it now appears, represents the Agony in the Garden. Most of the lower part of this panel, however, is a restoration of recent date, and it is thought that in its original form this panel may have had another significance. Christ is shown kneeling in prayer between two trees. Above him there are two angels bearing censers from heaven.

Christ on Arc of Heaven.
The rounded top panel shows Christ in Majesty seated in an attitude of benediction on the arc of heaven. Surrounding him are the symbols of the four Evangelists, a man bearing a scroll, for St. Matthew; the eagle of St. John; the lion of St. Mark and the ox of St. Luke.

The window was purchased from the Brummer Gallery of New York for $11,000.

PRISON CAMP EX-OFFICIALS CLEARED OF TORTURE CHARGE

Three Still Accused of Assault and Neglect of Duty on Convicts' Complaints.

By the Associated Press.
CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 16.—Two former guards at the Mecklenburg County prison camp were acquitted on brutality charges yesterday and three other defendants were absolved of the charge of "maiming and torturing."

Judge Wilson Warlick directed verdicts freeing T. M. Gordon and J. W. Eudy, former guards, of all charges. Capt. Henry C. Little, former prison camp boss; Dr. C. S. McLaughlin, who was prison physician, and R. C. Rape, an ex-guard, are still charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill and neglect of duty. The indictment specified "handcuffs and iron bars" as the "deadly weapon."

Two young Negro convicts lost their feet by amputation at the prison camp last winter after a gangrenous infection had set in. They appeared as witnesses at the trial, which began a week ago.

LEGION MEN YIELD, WON'T TAKE STRIKE POLL ALONE

Call for Co-operation of Other Groups After Opposition at Camden, N. J.

By the Associated Press.
CAMDEN, N. J., July 16.—County American Legion leaders yielded today to opposition to their proposed poll of striking New York Shipbuilding Corporation workers, and recommended the co-operation of other organizations in taking the vote.

The Camden council of the Legion had accepted a company invitation to supervise a proposed poll of the strikers tomorrow to decide whether they are willing to return to work under company terms. Strikers announced opposition, and S. J. D. Marshall, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Harry V. Underwood, commander of the Gloucester Legion, deplored Legion participation.

John Green, union president, said the Legion was inveigled into the dispute for employment as "strike breakers," and warned the Legion that "if you go on with this poll and any disorder results the Legion must be held responsible."

MARGUERITE CLARK ON LONG'S FILM BOARD

Senator Tells New Orleans Movie Owners to Improve Shows, Revive Vaudeville.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, July 16.—Marguerite Clark, stage and movie star until her retirement 15 years ago, has been named a member of the Motion Picture Censorship Board of Louisiana. Senator Huey P. Long announced yesterday.

The appointments, he said, were made by Gov. O. K. Allen. Besides Marguerite Clark, who is now Mrs. Harry P. Williams, A. W. Newlin, a former newspaper man, and an unnamed lawyer are members of the board. Its duties, Long said, are to bring better movies to New Orleans and to return vaudeville to this city.

Mrs. Williams, he said, was "not too eager to take the position, but her husband was perfectly willing for her to take it if she wanted to." Says City Needs Vaudeville.

Long made his announcement at a meeting with the New Orleans movie exhibitors and distributors. He told them they had been "running nickel shows" and they had "to improve" their offerings.

"We ought to have vaudeville back in New Orleans," Long told the conference. "I believe that's what the people here want. This is the only city of its size in the country without vaudeville. This town used to have as good shows as they had anywhere."

Saying he expected to fly back to Washington "tomorrow or the next day," Long said he planned to stop in Atlanta, to see what kind of vaudeville they presented in that city. "They have vaudeville in Atlanta, Houston and Memphis, and so we have to have it here," he said. "Vaudeville had a 'black eye' for some time, but it's come back," he said.

One of the movie owners interrupted to say the vaudeville shows in Atlanta were "what we call 'turkey' or 'girl' shows. The people of New Orleans wouldn't stand for them here." The movie man told the Senator they "just couldn't make a go of vaudeville" in New Orleans, saying vaudeville increased their expenses to $5000 a week.

Long proposed today to recall Mayor T. Semmes Waimsey at a special election shortly after the first of the year and hinted at another special session of the Louisiana Legislature "to pass a new recall law so as to make an election easier."

Long's newest threat against his New Orleans political opponent was printed in a circular bearing the Louisiana dictator's signature, which was delivered to practically every home in the city.

Fire at Movie Studio Ranch.
By the Associated Press.
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 16.—For the second time in less than a month a fire of mysterious origin swept the RKO-Radio Studio Ranch, 15 miles north of here, last night. A storage building for properties and a "set" were destroyed. No one was injured. C. D. White, studio manager, said he could not account for the blaze. Several weeks ago a whole street of "sets," built for the film "Cimarron," was destroyed by fire.

One quick 'getaway'

SHIFT
SHIFT

JUST MARRIED

4 out of every 5 miles you drive
—are stop and go

Today's constant starting, shifting and accelerating waste your money unless your gasoline has these Three Kinds of Power

YOU often start up from a full stop over 30 times a day. And a single zooming getaway, engineers and car manufacturers will tell you, can use 33% more gasoline than normal driving.

This means you need a gasoline with power for HARD PULLING.

But one kind of power alone can't save you money in today's stop-and-go driving. You also need power for INSTANT STARTS.

And your gasoline must be economical in STEADY RUNNING as well!

SHELL

It's one thing to put these three kinds of power into a gasoline, but it's an even bigger engineering job to have them in the right proportion... in perfect BALANCE. But that is the feat Shell engineers accomplished in creating Super-Shell—the FIRST truly balanced gasoline... the gasoline that saves money 3 WAYS!

Fill your tank today with Super-Shell at one of Shell's 30,000 neighborly service stations spread from Coast to Coast.

SAVES in 3 ways—

STARTING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on every "cold" start. Even on sizzling summer days, your engine is relatively "cold" when not running, because normal temperature under the hood when running is over 150°.

PULLING—It can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or in rapid accelerating, or hill climbing.

RUNNING—With its extra heat units, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful, many motorists report, in an hour on the long stretch—thus saving on LONG RUNS as well as on short trips.

Remember, when you save 16 cupfuls, you save a whole gallon!

BROTHERS BEING TAKEN TO TRIAL KILL SHERIFF

Two, Accused of Causing Man to Starve, Escape at Telluride, Colo.

By the Associated Press.
TELLURIDE, Colo., July 16.—Two brothers, Otis McDaniels, 30, and Herbert, 20, held in a starvation death case, fatally wounded Sheriff W. W. Dunlap with his own pistol yesterday and fled through mountainous southwestern Colorado in his automobile.

Firing a bullet into the head of Sheriff Dunlap while he and Special Deputy Sheriff Clem Duncan were taking them to court for arraignment, the McDaniels brothers threw the officers from the car and sped away.

The McDaniels brothers were arrested last May for the killing of James Westfall, pioneer stockman, whose body, bound and gagged, was found on the floor of his cabin last April. A coroner's jury decided he died from starvation and exposure.

District Attorney James M. No-land of Durango said the brothers confessed they had bound Westfall in an attempt to rob him.

WATERWAY TRAFFIC DOUBLED

Illinois Increase Despite Drop in Grain Transportation.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Guy Bartley, secretary-treasurer of the Inland Waterway Corporation, said today freight traffic on the Illinois waterway has doubled during the first six months of 1935.

This year's growth, Bartley said, has resulted despite a marked decrease in the barge transportation of corn and other grain.

In the three months starting with March, 1934, the company hauled 12,077 tons of corn and grains from such small ports as Havana, while only 1039 tons were hauled in the same period this year. The total traffic for the same three months in 1934 was 60,941 tons, while in 1935 it was 116,022.

U. S. AGENTS JOIN HUNT FOR KILLER OF TWO OFFICERS

Posse Seeks Bank Robber Who Shot Pursuers to Death on Road Not Far From Tacoma, Wash.

By the Associated Press.
TACOMA, Wash., July 16.—Two Department of Justice Agents joined possemen today in the search for a man who killed two Puyallup policemen yesterday. Some officers expressed the belief that the man sought was William Dainard, alias Mahan, who is wanted for the George Weyerhaeuser kidnapping. Puyallup is about 10 miles from Tacoma.

The officers, Chief of Police Frank Chadwick and Patrolman Harry W. Storem, were shot to death on a road outside Puyallup while chasing a holdup man who had robbed the Orting State Bank of $500.

Shortly after the robbery was reported, Chadwick and Storem set out by automobile in pursuit of the robber. Near the farm of John Urdea, they drew alongside his car. Urdea said the man got out, walked around to the police automobile and suddenly opened fire. He then jumped into his automobile and sped away toward Buckley.

"There were no shots from the police car," Urdea said. Both officers died within a few minutes.

Less than an hour later the robber's automobile was found near Sumner.

Capt. Ernie Yoris of the Seattle Sheriff's office thought the fugitive might be Dainard, ex-convict, who is wanted also on bank robbery charges in four western Washington cities.

Late yesterday afternoon, Police Chief M. Jastram of Centralia reported a man resembling Dainard had been seen there in a soft drink stand. Centralia is about 75 miles south of Tacoma.

Jastram said the man appeared to be nervous and left hurriedly after buying a drink. He was described as having a "birthmark" on his upper lip, where Dainard has a scar.

The Justice Department has maintained headquarters here since a short time after the Weyerhaeuser boy was kidnapped on May 24.

Harmon M. Waley was sentenced to prison for 45 years on his plea of guilty of the kidnapping and his wife, convicted Saturday, will be sentenced tomorrow.

Dainard eluded Butte (Mont.) police about a week after the kidnaped boy was released, abandoning an automobile containing $15,000 in ransom money.

"Contract Marriages" in Montana. BILLINGS, Mont., July 16.—Montanans have resorted to "contract marriages" to circumvent the State's new law which is so rigid physicians refuse to sign health certificates. Two pairs appeared before a notary public and signed a declaration of marriage. Ray Anderson, notary public and United States Commissioner, pointed out, however, that the declaration must read that the marriage has not been duly solemnized.

BAR PRESIDENT ASSAILS CRITICS OF COURT SYSTEM

Scott M. Loftin Says Basic Law Was Framed to Keep Popular Whims Out of Constitution.

ONLY PROTECTION AGAINST TYRANNY

Before Convention He Urges Caution in Considering Changes—Lawyer-Criminals Discussed.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 16.—Addressing the annual convention of the American Bar Association today, President Scott M. Loftin said that "reverence for the supreme law of the land is necessary" if America's present constitutional form of government is to continue.

"If the courts are ever deprived of the power to determine constitutionality of statutes, no protection will exist to preserve primordial rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness to the individual citizen, nor to prevent tyranny of executives and oppression by popular majorities," Loftin declared.

Admitting that disciplinary procedure for "shyster lawyers" was inefficient in many sections, Loftin said "this situation must be remedied through the courts." He called on delegates to "mobilize their forces" in removing the stigma cast by unethical lawyers.

Loftin declared the "judiciary is the safeguard of the Constitution and of the inalienable rights and liberties of American citizens."

"If a change in our organic law is deemed desirable," he continued, "the method provided by the Constitution is the proposal of an amendment which can be adopted after thorough discussion and deliberation by the people."

"This prudent provision was made by the founders of our government to forestall changes without due thought and mature consideration, and to prevent popular whims and false philosophies of government from being incorporated into our Constitution."

Loftin said when there is agitation, following a judicial pronouncement that a statute is in violation of the Constitution, for a change in the judicial system "which would take away the court's power in this respect, the bar should condemn vigorously any such proposal."

Concerning "lawyer-criminals" the president said there still are "many jurisdictions where procedure for the disciplining of unethical lawyers is ineffective."

"This situation must be remedied through the courts," Loftin said. "Lawyers are being indicted for their lack of action in this particular and should mobilize their forces to clear the profession of the charge that it allows unworthy and unethical practitioners to continue to function as officers of the court."

Discussing the need for new methods in selecting judges, Loftin said "every State should have a plan that will attract to the courts the best talent and the most worthy lawyers so that justice under law may be administered without fear or favor by an able, fearless and independent judiciary."

Mayer C. Goldman of New York and Judge Charles W. Fricke of the Los Angeles Superior Court laid opposing views before the convention on the subject of the profession's so-called black sheep.

Goldman advocated a system of public defenders in criminal cases, declaring the increasing number of "lawyer criminals" who ally themselves with criminals warranted correction.

Judge Fricke retorted that "the black sheep of the profession are the exception and not the rule," and added that privately employed counsel could be as honest and ethical as a public defender.

The Press-Bar Committee originally submitted a report sternly rebuking both the Bruno Hauptmann defense and prosecution counsel for purported breaches of dignity in handling the case, but the preliminary bar association conference group yesterday declined either to approve or disapprove it.

Attorney-General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey, who prosecuted the case, in Trenton yesterday termed the report unfair, and later the committee said a "modified" statement eliminating any reference to Wilentz would be drafted.

MISS ANNE R. WANNEY DIES, TEACHER FOR 48 YEARS

Had Been Library Co-ordinator Since 1930; Leader in Fight for Pensions.

Miss Anne R. Wanney, library co-ordinator for the Board of Education and a veteran teacher, died of cerebral hemorrhage yesterday afternoon at her home, 3648 Flad avenue. She was 73 years old and was ill only since Sunday.

Born here, she was graduated from the old St. Louis Normal School and later took advanced work at Washington University. She began teaching in 1878 at Gardenville School and afterward was at the Humboldt, Jackson and Hodges schools. In 1893 she began teaching Latin at Central High School, transferring in the same subject to Soldan High when it was opened in 1908.

Since 1930 she had had general supervision of the high school and teachers' college libraries. For three years she was president of the local division of the Missouri State Teachers' Association. A leader of the teaching corps, many of her colleagues consulted her for advice on various public questions. For 20 years, chiefly before the Legislature, she led the unsuccessful fight for teachers' pensions; an enabling act for this purpose was defeated in last year's election.

Miss Wanney, who lived alone, is survived by two nieces and a nephew. The funeral will be from the residence at 8:30 a. m. Thursday, with services at St. Margaret's Catholic Church and burial in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Schwartz and the boy were rowing with Zandee and two young girls from a nearby cottage. Suddenly the boy fell from the boat and Mrs. Schwartz and Zandee dove in to try to save him. Another guide saw the two little girls sitting in the floating rowboat and brought them ashore, where they told the story.

ROOSEVELT'S IDEA OF CONSTITUTION DRAWS CHALLENGE

Shouse Says President Shows 'Appalling Lack of Concern' Despite Oath to Preserve the Law.

CITES HIS LETTER ON

Liberty League Head Asserts Plea for Passage Regardless of Validity Was
'Inconceivable.'

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Attributing to President Roosevelt "an appalling lack of concern" for the Constitution, Jouett Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, has called for a showdown on limiting the power of the Supreme Court.

In a radio speech last night he listed nine major proposals considered or passed by the present Congress and asserted that eight of them were of questionable constitutionality. These, he said, were: The Wagner Labor Disputes Act, the social security bill, the omnibus banking bill, the AAA amendments, the TVA amendments, the Bankhead farm tenant bill, the Guffey coal bill.

"The President himself in criticizing the decision of the Supreme Court which outlawed the NRA said that by the terms of that decision both the AAA and TVA were condemned," said Shouse, "and yet the President has used and is using all the power of his office to compel Congress to pass amendments to these acts which will broaden administrative authority and extend the bureaucratic control exercised under them."

Guffey Coal Bill Cited.
Asking what consideration Roosevelt had given to the constitutionality of the measures listed, Shouse referred specifically to the Guffey bituminous coal control bill.

"The Attorney-General of the United States, called to testify, refused to express the opinion that it is constitutional," Shouse said. "On the other hand, there is good reason to believe that he has pronounced it unconstitutional."

"But, despite that fact, despite his presidential oath to 'preserve, protect and defend the Constitution,' Mr. Roosevelt 10 days ago did a thing that seems inconceivable in a President of this republic."

"Advised that the committee having the legislation under consideration might refuse to sanction it because of the belief that it was unconstitutional, he addressed a letter to the chairman of that committee."

"I quote from his letter this astounding phrase: 'I hope your committee will not permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation.'"

Remarks on Supreme Court.
Shouse said that from Roosevelt's remarks following the NRA decision a practically unanimous conclusion was that he intended proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the powers of the Supreme Court so that the tribunal would be barred from voiding congressional acts.

"If the issue shall arise in this country as to whether the power of the Supreme Court to interpret the Constitution is to be curtailed, under either this or some other administration, I have no apprehension as to the result," Shouse said.

"The American people will not subject themselves to the irresponsible rule of temporary legislative majorities or to the whims of bureaucrats in the executive department."

Citing possible results of curtailment of the Supreme Court's powers, such as the abolishment of free speech and free press and establishment of a state religion, Shouse said that if any administration "wishes to go before the American people with a proposition making possible such results, I, for one, welcome that issue."

Roosevelt has shown, he said, "that he will not hesitate to attempt government by coercion." He said that representatives of the executive branch of the Government had gone "for the first time in history" on to the floors of Congress in an effort to influence legislation in conformity with the President's wishes.

Duke of Kent Loses Shirt at Golf.
By the Associated Press.
PORTSMOUTH, England, July 16.—The Duke of Kent removed his shirt today while playing golf with his elder brother, the Prince of Wales, at Hayling Island before the jubilee naval review. The Duke was losing when they quit without finishing the game in order to get to the review. When he went back after his shirt, it was gone.

ROOSEVELT'S IDEA OF CONSTITUTION DRAWS CHALLENGE

Shouse Says President Shows 'Appalling Lack of Concern' Despite Oath to Preserve the Law.

Liberty League Head Asserts Plea for Passage Regardless of Validity Was
'Inconceivable.'

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 16. — At-tributing to President Roosevelt
"an appalling lack of concern" for the Constitution, J. M. Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, has called for a showdown on limiting the power of the Supreme Court.

In a radio speech last night he listed nine major proposals considered or passed by the present Congress and asserted that eight of them were of questionable constitutionality. These, he said, were:
The Wagner Labor Disputes Act, the social security bill, the utility holding company bill, the omnibus banking bill, the AAA amendments, the TVA amendments, the Bankhead farm tenant bill, the Guffey coal bill.

"The President himself in criticizing the decision of the Supreme Court which outlawed the NRA said that by the terms of that decision both the AAA and TVA were condemned," said Shouse, "and yet the President has used and is using all the power of his office to compel Congress to pass amendments to these acts which will broaden administrative authority and extend the bureaucratic control exercised under them."

Guffey Coal Bill Cited.
Asking what consideration Roosevelt had given to the constitutionality of the measures listed, Shouse referred specifically to the Guffey bituminous coal control bill.

"The Attorney-General of the United States, called to testify, refused to express the opinion that it is constitutional," Shouse said. "On the other hand, there is good reason to believe that he has pronounced it unconstitutional."

"But, despite that fact, despite his presidential oath to 'preserve, protect and defend' the Constitution, Mr. Roosevelt 10 days ago did a thing that is, in my opinion, unthinkable in a President of this republic."

"Advised that the committee having the legislation under consideration might refuse to sanction it because of the belief that it was unconstitutional, he addressed a letter to the chairman of that committee."

"I quote from his letter this astounding phrase: 'I hope your committee will not permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation.'"

Remarks on Supreme Court.
Shouse said that from Roosevelt's remarks following the NRA decision a practically unanimous conclusion was that he intended proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the powers of the Supreme Court so that the tribunal would be barred from voiding congressional acts.

"If the issue shall arise in this country as to whether the power of the Supreme Court to interpret the Constitution is to be curtailed under either this or some other administration, I have no apprehension as to the result," Shouse said.
"The American people will not subject themselves to the irresponsible rule of temporary legislative majorities or to the whims of bureaucrats in the executive department."

Citing possible results of curtailment of the Supreme Court's powers, such as the abolishment of free speech and free press and establishment of a state religion, Shouse said that if any administration "wishes to go before the American people with a proposition making possible such results, I, for one, welcome that issue."

Roosevelt has shown, he said,
"that he will not hesitate to attempt government by coercion." He said that representatives of the executive branch of the Government had gone "for the first time in history" on to the floors of Congress in an effort to influence legislation in conformity with the President's wishes.

GERMANS EVADE
HITLER EDICT; FLY TO LONDON TO WED

35 "Aryans" Married to Non-"Aryans" at One English
Registry Office.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, July 16. — London register offices have been experiencing a boom in German marriages.
Within a short time one West End office alone married 35 pairs who had flown from Germany to evade the Hitler edict against marriages between "Aryans" and non-"Aryans," Germans, or any other nationals, may marry in this country after 15 days' residence.

A West End register said:
"I have married many German couples. They have told me that because of Jewish blood in a grandparent they have been forbidden the right to wed in Germany."
"Many have been quite poor who have saved up to provide the fare.
Usually the girl comes over first by boat, the man slipping over by air during a few days' holiday."

RIOT AT BELFAST FUNERAL WHEN SNIPER FIRES SHOTS

Crowd Wrecks Store, Seizing Suspect and Giving Him Severe Beating.

By The Associated Press.
BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 16. — Shots fired as a funeral procession passed in the street today aroused the fury of a crowd which wrecked a store in which the sniper was believed to be hiding.

The crowd seized the suspected man and gave him a severe beating before police intervened.

The funeral was that of William Lytell, Protestant victim of the four-day Catholic-Protestant fighting. Three shots were fired into the procession, but police promptly restored order by training machine guns on the crowd.

The soldiers on riot duty since the outbreak of disturbances following the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne last Friday, were withdrawn today.

MOVE TO PAY OIL SCANDAL ATTORNEYS $300,000

Senate Committee Vctes to Include Item for Fees in Second Deficiency Bill.

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 16. — Payment of $300,000 in fees to attorneys representing the Government in the oil lease scandals of the Harding administration was voted by the Senate Appropriations Committee yesterday. It wrote an amendment into the second deficiency bill. The money would go to former Senator Allee Pomerene of Ohio, and three associates, H. J.
Crawford, T. M. Kirby and Frank Harrison.

Senator Bulkley (Dem.), Ohio, told the committee in urging approval of the item that the four men had "given a large part of their time to this particular litigation over a period of about eight years" and already had recovered $5,500,000 for the Government in connection with the Pan-American Petroleum Co. case. He said Justice Owen J. Roberts of the National Supreme Court, who also represented the Government in the oil cases, had been paid, though he did not know the amount.

GREAT BRITAIN APPORTIONS
$25,000,000 FOR AIR DEFENSE

Appropriation Provides for Stronger Personnel and Cash Payment for Aircraft.

By The Associated Press.
LONDON, July 16. — Great Britain appropriated more than $25, 000,000 today to maintain its air security by strengthening its air defense.

The appropriation included provision for additional personnel and cash payment for combatant and training aircraft. Much of the equipment will not be delivered until the next financial year.

The revised program, drawn in conjunction with plans announced in July, 1934, calls for nearly 50 new air stations.

SEAPLANE DISTANCE ATTEMPT

Two Italian Flyers Trying to Beat French Record.

TRIESTE, Italy, July 16. — A seaplane piloted by Mario Stoppani and Co-pilot Babbì, Italian flyers, took off today in an attempt to break the world's distance record for a seaplane. The record, now held by France, is 4300 kilometers (2625 miles).

The plane, heading for Berbera, British Somaliland, East Africa, was sighted over Crete eight hours after its start. The same plane held the distance record previously in a flight from Trieste to Massaua, Erit-yrea, in 1934.

SOCIALISTS ADOPT COMPROMISE IN FACTIONAL FIGHT

National Executive Committee Seeks to Patch Up
New York Row and Avert Major Split.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 16. — The National Executive Committee of the Socialist party formulated and adopted a compromise last night to compose the differences between right and left factions in New York City and State and to avert a major schism. The program, in the main, was that prepared by Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee and three party leaders from outside New York.

Although the compromise was designated as a pact of peace, its adoption was gained with anything but harmony. Predictions were voiced on both sides that the differences would be fought over until the 1936 convention.

The old guard won most major points in the compromise except that the city party machine, controlled by Norman Thomas, national leader of the party, was to be immediately reconstituted into membership qualified members of the Young People's Socialist League.

Leaders in Fight.
League members are made eligible by the national constitution, but the New York City party machine had rejected them as members. The fight for their admission was made by Powers Hapgood, candidate for Governor of Indiana in 1932, and Maynard Kreuger, associate professor of the University of Chicago. They were joined by Norman Thomas, national leader of the party, who steadily had championed the youth organization.

Thomas voted for the rest of the so-called Hoan report, however, saying he did so "to help build a united Socialist party in the future."

Hapgood charged that the adoption of the Hoan report allowed the old guard to "defy the left wing and the constitution of the party and to get away with it."

The leftists lost their fight to oust Louis Waldman, old guard leader and prominent labor lawyer, as chairman of the State Executive Committee.

The committee laid over until the 1936 convention the question of a united front with the Communist party, reaffirming the so-called Botton resolution in response to a

The left wing members also lost a fight on the adoption of a motion to tone down the committee's definition of Communism. They would have had a Communist defined as "one who belongs to the Communist party or any of its schismatic groups."

The Hoan report, declaring the definition was drafted to apply only to the New York situation and did not reverse the Detroit convention principles, said "concerning the adherence to the resolution of the National Executive Committee providing the ineligibility of advocates of Communism and violence in the party, this shall be interpreted as applying to persons who advocate or practice:

"1—Violent insurrection; 2—Dictatorship or abandonment of democracy, either as a fact within the party or as an ideal method of achieving Socialism; 3—Subjection of the party to a bureaucratic mechanical discipline from abroad, such as that imposed by the third international."

Acting under the mandate of the National Committee, the New York State Committee set to work today to put into effect the peace plan laid down late yesterday by the national committee to break the factional bitterness and differences in the New York City and State parties.

chine motor, developing 18,000 horse-pany for use in the trans-Atlantic steamship Vulcania.

KING GEORGE REVIEWS BRITISH NAVAL FORCES

Yacht Moves Through Ten-Mile Line of Fighting Craft, Crowd Lines Shore.

By The Associated Press.
PORTSMOUTH, England, July 16. — King George and three of his sons, aboard the royal yacht "Victoria and Albert," moved slowly through a 10-mile lane of fighting craft today to complete the jubilee review of Great Britain's war forces.

Tens of thousands of spectators lined the shores, braving the glaring sun to catch glimpses of the royal procession. So great was the crush on the beach as the crowds surged forward that the front ranks were pushed knee deep into the water.

They stood there for hours, un-complaining, to witness the greatest naval pageant since the coronation.

Famous ships with famous names
—Ramillies, Revenge, Resolution, Iron Duke, Hood, Renown, Furius—saluted the King as he passed by in the perfect weather which thus far has marked outdoor events celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his accession to the throne.

The King's appearance was greeted with a 21-gun simultaneous salute from all vessels. Afterward, he received the officers of many of the ships, then took up the actual review.

Members of Parliament and the Cabinet followed the Victoria and Albert aboard the hospital ship, Mene.

Twenty-five years ago, the King viewed 59 capital ships and 55 cruisers on the game scene. In his postwar review of 1924, there were 11 capital ships and nine cruisers. Today there were nine capital ships and 17 cruisers. These were fetters and submarines in greater numbers and two aircraft carriers, which were unknown in World War days.

The fleet, a major part of which entered into the ceremony, displayed a strength which, although weaker than in 1914, the British navy, like that of the United States, has been cut radically in size and regulated by the Washington treaty.

Ninety-five vessels other than men-of-war also were drawn up for royal inspection, including cargo ships, yachts and fishing vessels.

Among the five foreign ships in line was Gerard Lambert's racing yacht Yankee—the only vessel flying the Stars and Stripes.

The Shadow of Earth Passing Over Face of the Moon

THE phases of last night's eclipse of the moon, as seen by the camera, were taken at the following times, from left to right: At 9:15 p. m., moon within the earth's shadow; at 9:30, same farther advanced; at 10:10 p. m., the total eclipse; at 12:20 and 12:35 a. m., moon still within earth's receding shadow.

SCIENTISTS SAY ECLIPSE REVEALED NO CHANGES IN CRATERS ON THE MOON

By The Associated Press.
WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., July 16.

ASTRONOMERS at Yerkes Observatory said today they learned during the lunar eclipse last night that there had been no changes in the craters on the surface of the moon since the last time it was covered by the earth's shadow.

"On previous occasions," Dr.
G. Van Biebroeck said, "there were observed some changes on the surface, and we had expected to find others this time. But so far as we could learn, there had been none."

Neither, he said, did scientists who watched the astronomical event from the University of Chicago's observatory here, find any evidence of the truth of a theory that there was a precipitation on the moon during the eclipse.

"The basis for the theory," he explained, "was that during the sudden coolness caused by the earth's shadow, some sort of a moisture, possibly pulled up from the surface, existed. But we found nothing to support the belief."

LAVAL UNDERTAKES TO IMPOSE ECONOMIES

No One to Be Spared in Budget Trimming; Trade Barriers Expected to Be Lowered.

By The Associated Press.
PARIS, July 16. — Premier Pierre Laval submitted 23 economy decrees to the Cabinet today in an effort to bolster the franc.

The Premier used broad powers granted him recently by Parliament in issuing the decrees. The only alternative, he said, was to "fabricate false money."

The decrees, kept secret until after the Bastille day demonstration in order to avoid a public protest, were considered by the Cabinet at an all-day meeting before being presented to President Albert Lebrun for his signature.

A lowering of foreign trade barriers, including import quota restrictions, was said to be part of the program.

Laval, aware of the unpopularity of budget trimming, particularly among functionaries and veterans, indicated that no one would be spared.

"If discontent must exist, all Frenchmen must be equally discontented," he said.

St. Louis Gets Perfect View
Of 5-Hour Eclipse of Moon

First Similar Display of Like Duration in Half Century and Next Will Be Fifty Years in Future, Scientists Say.

St. Louis saw the total eclipse of the moon, sight of a century, without so much as a wisp of cloud interference last night.

In all parts of the city, from lawns, porches, windows, fire escapes and park knolls, people of all ages watched the overspreading of the lunar surface by the earth's shadow, its umbral concealment for one hour and 40 minutes, and—not so many people now—the gradual recession of the darkening disk.

The period of totality was from 10:09 to 11:49 p. m., this being the central portion of an exhibition which lasted, in all, 5 hours and 28 minutes.

At the Municipal Theater, Nature's show kept a big hillside audience looking away from a first-night stage and over the oak-tops.
At homes surrounded by trees, upper windows were sought for an unobstructed view. Every St. Louis onlooker got a view which was denied to some scientific observers in the East. At Harvard University, clouds prevented observation and photographs, and cloud interference was reported from Philadelphia and Providence.

Longest Eclipse in 50 Years.
Not for 50 years has a lunar eclipse of such length been seen in the United States, and nothing to equal it will be seen for another 50 years, calculations show. There will be a total lunar eclipse of shorter duration, May 14, 1938. The last one seen here was Nov. 27, 1928.

Early watchers, looking at dusk for some sign of the coming phenomenon, saw clouds about 7:30 p. m., and were not sure they would be able to see the moon later. But well before the time set for the beginning of the exhibition, the clouds had rolled by.

At 8:15 the earth's outer shadow began to obscure the customary reflection of the sun's rays on the moon's surface. This effect increased until, at 9:11, the earth's actual shadow began to appear.
From the observer's left to right,
the darkening coverage pushed across, until at 10:09 the observation was complete.

Then, for the period of totality which lasted until 11:49, the moon's aspect was that of an enormous pie, covered with a crust which has let a little juice out around the edges. A thin rim of much be-dimmed light was to be seen, this being furnished by the reflection

CABINET REJECTS LLOYD GEORGE'S
NEW DEAL PLAN

British Government Makes Final Decision and Will Announce Its Reasons
Next Monday.

By The Associated Press.
LONDON, July 16. — A final decision rejecting David Lloyd George's initiative "the New Deal" for Great Britain, modeled after that in Washington, was made by the Cabinet last night.

A detailed statement of reasons for the action will be published next Monday.

A proposed loan of £250,000,000 (almost $1,250,000,000) for the financing of productive public works during the next two years was the backbone of Lloyd George's proposals, made public in their entirety for the first time yesterday.

The fact that the was-time Pre-
was reshuffled recently was generally interpreted as indicating that Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's new government would reject the proposals.

A report of the Cabinet committee appointed to study the New Deal schemes was expected to point out that several projects already had been put into effect, while others were visionary.

Lloyd George has said Britain could not eliminate the dole and return to prosperity by traditional methods but must use bolder plans.
He has announced he will put the plan before the country at the forthcoming elections.

The Government last week granted Lloyd George the right to publish his plans. The Lloyd George proposals include:

Creation of a national development board to survey industrial, agricultural and financial resources of the nation and plan economic progressive assistance for development of the overseas markets.

Reduction of the British Cabinet (as during the World War) so that it would consist of a Prime Minister and four or five Ministers without departments.

Raising of the school-leaving age to 15, with reduction of daily working hours, and where possible, limiting the work week to five days.
Pensions would begin at the age of 60.

Use of tariffs to force trade bargains with other countries.

The British press poured cold water on the "new deal" program of Lloyd George today.

The Times asserted: "The present national debt is not so trivial that there would be any popular welcome to the appointment of a board with the specific duty of creating a new national debt."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, and never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Finds Repeal a "Ghastly Failure."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN your issue of July 6 is quoted a statement from the Kansas City Journal-Post purporting to show that there is less drinking under repeal than before. Says the statement: "Advocates of temperance can find real solace in present-day statistics that prove a trend toward less drinking under a freedom from Federal laws than existed under the law." Then follows an array of figures in an effort to prove the point. But somehow, they do not seem to click. Figures can be juggled in such a way as to seem to prove anything we desire.

Not long since, Mr. Choate of the Alcohol Control Board declared: "It looks as if there were illicit stills in the country capable of making as much as the whole legitimate industry could." When President Roosevelt complacently remarked, "We have the bootleggers on the run," the statement was ridiculed by State Beverage Commissioner Burnett of New Jersey, when he said, "You and I wish we had them on the run." Then he said that the estimate that 50 per cent of the liquor consumed today is illicit was incorrect, that the amount was nearly 56 per cent.

There is apparently more illicit liquor afloat today than in the worst years of prohibition. Then when we add the retail dealers to whom the Government has issued more than 437,704 tax receipts, making more selling places than we had saloons (177,000) in pre-prohibition times, the selling of liquor has without doubt been greatly increased. Statistical facts bear out this statement.

Says Dr. John Haynes Holmes: "Arrests for drunkenness in 226 cities of the United States in 1934 showed an increase of 26.17 per cent over the last year of prohibition (1933), and an increase of 24.43 per cent over the first year of prohibition (1920)."

Women arrested for drunkenness in 130 cities in 1934 increased 39.87 per cent over 1933. Motor car accidents have steadily mounted, and beer and hard liquors figure heavily in the increase.

In truth, there is no "solace" for advocates of temperance under repeal. It is a ghastly failure from every point of view, and they are loud in their lamentations.

Favors Recall of 17 Aldermen.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I THINK that the suggestion of recall for the 17 obstructive Aldermen is a good one. I am sure that the people of St. Louis would be more than glad if given a chance to replace them with men who would consider that "public office is a public trust." JOHN P. WILLIAMS.

A Dangerous Grade Crossing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WITH United States Highway No. 40 closed for much-needed widening west of Collinsville, traffic has been greatly increased on Black Lane, which connects Highway 40 with the Washington Park-Caseyville road in the vicinity of the Fairmount race track. Use of Black Lane for heavy traffic has this serious danger—it forces drivers to cross the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio railroads at unguarded grade crossings. The Pennsylvania crossing is extremely hazardous, for empty cars on sidings obstruct the view of southbound drivers so they must pull out to the track before they can see in either direction. If these cars are not removed, it will be a miracle if there is not a grade-crossing tragedy at this death trap.

Decision in September.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

HAT extremely touchy subject, the conduct of Legionnaires during conventions, will be settled by the visiting Legionnaires next September.

Ethiopia's Fate.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MUSSOLINI'S campaign against Ethiopia reminds one of the Roman campaign against Judea about 2000 years ago, which we believe will end with the same result.

The Ethiopians, however, should be thankful that it is Mussolini, and not Hitler, who will conquer them. For the former will only force them to ally themselves with the Italian people into what he calls a "Latin race," and they would probably be not much worse off than they are now, while the latter would simply exterminate them for the crime of having been born non-Australians.

As to the fate of their Emperor, "The Friend of God" and "The Just One," we suppose he will have to go the way of Kaiser Wilhelm and Czar Nicholas, who also claimed to be the friends of God, or at least appointed by His grace, and now they are in disgrace. "How the mighty have fallen!" M. LEON.

Gen. Johnson, Debater.

JUST a word of information to B. J. Brown of Valley Park: Gen. Hugh Johnson did debate the question he refers to (revision of the Constitution) over the radio the other evening with a United States Senator. If I understood the General rightly (taking the points brought out by both men), Gen. Johnson tore the Honorable Senator's arguments all to pieces.

ONE OF THE MASSES.

A THREAT TO AMERICAN PRINCIPLES.

However believers in American traditions may differ on other bills before Congress, there is one measure which should have their unanimous opposition. That is the proposed anti-sedition legislation, which was slipped through the Senate without public hearings, and has now been reported favorably by the House Military Affairs Committee.

The first section of this bill provides that "whoever advises, counsels, urges or solicits any member of the military or naval forces of the United States, including the reserves thereof, to disobey the laws or regulations governing such military or naval forces, or whoever publishes or distributes any book, pamphlet, paper, print, article, letter or other writing (to that end) shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both." The second section provides for the seizure of any such writing or paper in "any house or other place in which it may be found or from any person in whose possession it may be."

There are many reasons why the House should prevent the enactment of this bill, or why President Roosevelt should veto it if the House follows the unthinking example of the Senate.

In the first place, the strictures it sets up are not only without precedent in time of peace but go far beyond those established by the Espionage Act passed during the stress and war-time excitement of 1917. We do not now have a Federal sedition law. What is there in the country today which makes one necessary? The very least supporters of this measure should have done was to attempt to justify it in public hearings at which its opponents could have matched their arguments.

This bill is a threat to the fundamental American principle of freedom of speech. For it could be used to prosecute persons who had no intention whatever of provoking disobedience among soldiers and sailors. As the bill reads, the person who criticizes the military or naval policy of the Federal Government could be charged with conduct calculated to incite disobedience.

We have heard much about threats to freedom of the press in this country in recent years. Some of the fears have been justified, some unjustified. This bill provides a real danger. As the American Civil Liberties Union states in its criticism of the bill, the proposed legislation could be used to create governmental control of the press by prosecution of publishers or distributors of anti-war books and periodicals.

The wisdom or unwisdom of the use of the National Guard in strikes and labor controversies is a proper matter for public discussion. Labor has the right to strike and it has the right to picket peacefully. Should the militia authority be misused, it becomes a duty of the people to criticize the nature of its use. Yet under this bill, such criticism might be distorted into counseling disaffection.

To mention only one more objection, the bill has all the appearances of a subterfuge. Military and naval authorities now have all the recourse necessary for the punishment of mutiny, disaffection or disobedience. That being the case, what reason can there be for the proposed bill other than to place fingers of repression about the throat of free utterance?

AN INDICATOR MUSSOLINI OVERLOOKED.

The belief that Mussolini's assault on Ethiopia is a ruse to distract the world's attention from the fact that all is not well, economically, within the Italian corporative state is substantiated by the unfavorable position of the lira in foreign exchange. For the value of the lira has not only receded, reflecting internal strain in Italy; the New York exchange has seen the listing of quotations for "blocked" lire—lire owned by others than Italians which Fascist authorities will not allow to be transferred into the currencies of other countries and so must be spent, if spent at all, only in Italy.

If this blocking of a portion of the Italian currency means what the blocking of Central European and Latin American currencies has meant in recent years—and dealers in international exchange say it can have only that meaning—then Italy is in sore straits financially and guarding its resources with utmost care. With such an indicator registering the true situation, Mussolini declares himself if he thinks the world will notice only the bustle and stir of action against a backward nation in darkest Africa.

The committee sees the banking bill through a Glass darkly.

THE HOUSING DECISION.

There is a nice constitutional question involved in the housing case which has just been decided adversely to the Government by the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. Upholding the decision of Judge Dawson of the Federal District Court at Louisville, the Appellate Court found, by a 2-to-1 vote, that the Federal Government has no power to condemn land for use in Federal low-cost housing projects. The inhibition, says the court, is in the fifth amendment, providing that private property shall not be taken "for public use" without just compensation.

What constitutes "public use"? There is no question as to the right of the Federal Government to condemn land for use as parks or the sites of public buildings. In the Louisville case, the Government contended that this right of condemnation embraced land sought to be used in low-cost housing projects, for the reason that these projects would give work to the unemployed and, upon completion, would serve the social end of providing good living quarters for persons of low income. The court replied that the taking of land for the purpose of improving it and selling it or leasing it to another, or for the purpose of reducing unemployment, was not within the scope of the constitutional Federal power. With Judge Dawson, the court held that the constitutional bar against the taking of private property for public use without just compensation carried a clear implication that land could not be taken for private use at all. Judge Florence Allen, the dissenting member, thought that the Government had the right to use its power of eminent domain "wherever necessary and proper for carrying into execution the power of taxation and appropriation for the general welfare."

It is presumed the issue will be passed upon ultimately by the United States Supreme Court. Meantime, the Public Works Administration, in our judgment, will do well to modify its whole program—and not merely the Louisville part of it—to accord with the terms of the decision. Secretary Ickes has indicated that he will do this. The clearly constitutional method of acquiring land by purchase, without condemnation proceedings, has been used in Nashville, Tenn., Milwaukee, Wis., and Montgomery, Ala. This may be, in many cases, the slower method, but that consideration can give no warrant for an alternative plan that has now been declared outside the Constitution.

THE TRAFFIC CRUSADE.

Mayor Dickmann's campaign against reckless driving and violation of the traffic laws is bearing fruit. Some 2000 arrests have been made, and traffic has become more orderly. Accidents are decreasing.

The Mayor deserves the gratitude of the community for instituting such a vigorous policy against traffic smashes and mishaps. All the cities are afflicted by reckless driving, and they all have difficulty keeping accidents down; but few of them have equaled St. Louis in wholesale disregard of public safety. The effect of widening the streets has been to accelerate traffic, and we have not yet adapted ourselves to this new condition.

This is deplorable, since the wider streets should be a means of reducing traffic accidents. They have not served this purpose in St. Louis because no effective restraints have been put upon the accelerated tempo of traffic which resulted from easier access to any part of the city. If the police insist upon safety, there will be a speedy end to reckless driving, which is the chief cause of accidents. Seventy-six speeders were arrested over the week-end. More than 600 arrests have been made since July 1. Now more than a month old, the crusade is gaining momentum daily.

As the volume of traffic increases, the problem of safety will press more insistently upon the cities. We are not going to make any headway against its perils in St. Louis if we are going to be sentimental about punishing the offending motorist. In Baltimore, taxicab accidents have been reduced to one-fifth of their former volume by a crusade against reckless driving in this particular field. The same progress can be made against reckless driving by all traffic. We need only to be in earnest about it. The killing of 36,000 persons by automobiles in the United States last year, a considerable part of them on the streets of the cities, compares with an annual rate of 31,000 American soldiers killed in the World War.

Not life and limb alone are imperiled by that infirmity of purpose which makes the automobile so great a menace. The damage to property is also great. The police and the courts are masters of the situation. They can make the motorist appreciate his or her responsibility. Traffic is going to move as fast and as recklessly as the police and the courts will let it move. It has been reckless and devastating in St. Louis because the police and the courts have permitted it to become so. Mayor Dickmann has very properly called a halt. He has asked the cooperation of the police and the courts in bringing about a better condition.

It is, in our judgment, much more to the point that the offending driver should be arrested and brought into court than it is to sound warnings or to display crosses where people are killed. The one policy makes the police and the courts responsible. The other is a mere appeal to conscience or to pity, neither of which enjoys any response from the reckless motorist. With a terribly swift and destructive mechanism under his hands, he constitutes a peril to the public like of which society has never known. He must be brought up with a round turn and made to realize that the public safety takes precedence over his personal whim.

THE CONVENTION IDEA IN TIBET.

In Western eyes, it is a curious performance by which "the seven wise men of the Himalayas" are choosing the new Dalai Lama of Tibet. But is it so curious? Aren't the wise men using merely a rather ornate version of the American presidential convention system? From 20 candidates (infants born at the instant the late Lama died), the field is narrowed to six, and, says our account, "only the priests know the ritual by which they are chosen." Prayer wheels and incense, like our own set speeches and cigar smoke, figure in the choice. The parallel to the little group in the hotel room at 2 a. m. is present, as well. The choice among the six favored babies is made in seclusion by the Grand Lamas, seated about a gold table in their great council chamber.

The ceremony following the decision is the most striking counterpart of our conventions' typical sequels, however. The correspondent writes: "When the choice is made, the new ruler is anointed with holy butter." The dead cats, presumably, come a bit later.

HUEY IN LIGHT OPERA.

It may be healthful, in the heated spell at least, to cease viewing the (thus far) one-sided joust between Huey Long and democracy as a fit subject for Greek tragedy, and to look at its possibilities as light opera. If any librettist is so inspired, however, he will find that much of his work was done some years before the Kingfish was born. William Gilbert furnished the words and Arthur Sullivan the music for it when they wrote "Iolanthe," in 1882. In no interview or speech, for example, has a more telling self-portrait of the Louisiana Senator been given than in these words of Private Willis:

Though never nurtured in the lap
Of luxury, yet, I admonish you,
I am an intellectual chap.
And think of things that would astonish you.

Early in the opera, of course, there should be a stage spectacle of the Kingfish entering the Statehouse at Baton Rouge, surrounded by bodyguards, militia, legislators, Share-Our-Wealth organizers, etc., while the chorus sings these prescient words:

Bow, ye lower, middle classes!
Bow, ye tradesmen! Bow, ye masses!
Blow the trumpets! Blow the brasses!
Tantantara! zing! boom!

The Queen of the Fairies, in the original version, was addressing the British Parliament, but she could sing these words, unchanged, to the Pelican State Legislature:

Every bill and every measure
That may gratify his pleasure,
Shall be passed by both your houses.

Enter the peers (legislators in the 1935 edition), to render this appropriate lament:

Running amuck of all abuses;
His unqualified assent
Somehow nobody refuses,
Carrying every bill he may wish;
Here's a pretty kettle of fish!

Or, to paint the lily, "A pretty kettle of Kingfish." So nature is again caught red-handed imitating art.

Maybe Abyssinia was changed to Ethiopia so the inhabitants could spell it.

Rehabilitating the Missouri Ozarks

Restoring forests, fish and game in Ozark region is long-time project that will give extended employment to 10,000 men, Federal official says; Government is buying 3,500,000 acres of cut-over and wild land; regulated timber industry will add material assets to Missouri area, and recreational facilities will be enhanced.

Paul D. Kelleter, United States Forest Supervisor, State of Missouri, in St. Louis Chamber of Commerce News.

ST. LOUIS is at the gateway to the Ozark region of Missouri, soon to be rehabilitated by the Federal Government through the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, with definite social and economic benefits to the entire population of the State.

The program of development is of particular interest to St. Louis on account of its strategic location near the region, with which it is in close communication through the excellent and extensive road system radiating from St. Louis and extending to all parts of the Ozarks.

The past utilization of the timber and mineral wealth has played an important part in the life of the State. It is now the purpose of the Federal Government to accept responsibility for the restoration of the forests upon the withdrawal of the present owners and the ending of private exploitation.

The State Planning Board has indicated that approximately 3,000,000 acres would best serve the economic interests and welfare of the State if this area were dedicated to forests. The necessary statutory action has been taken by the State to permit the Federal Government to acquire lands for forest purposes, and at the present time the Government is actively engaged in buying forest lands, in several designated localities, comprising about 3,500,000 acres.

Restoration of the forests is premised on a program of proper land utilization put into effect by the Forest Service, whereby each area is devoted to the particular use for which it is best suited and through which it will make the most effective contribution to the life of the community.

It is a long-time project. However, there are immediate benefits, some of which are to be found in the opportunity for employment of local labor under the direction of the foresters.

The plans as formulated by the Forest Service contemplate the extended employment of 10,000 men in the construction of fire roads, building telephone lines, erection of towers, elimination of fire hazards, improvement of streams, reforestation of the forage resources and development of areas for recreational uses.

tion is had with the State agencies in restocking the streams with fish and the woods with game.

The Ozark region is an outstanding example of the need of planning in the use of the land. Private exploitation was interested in immediate financial returns with no concern for the disastrous effects. Impoverished communities, ghost towns and stranded families are the inheritance.

Under Federal ownership, the Ozark lands will be protected against forest fires, the timber will be protected and improved. Attractive places along streams and lakes will be developed for recreational use for the enjoyment of the tourist and the vacationist. There will be no further agricultural use of the thin soils on steep slopes from which the best soils have been washed into streams by rain storms.

The most important part of this program of restoration will be the rehabilitation of the forests of the Ozarks. Suitable commercial tree species will be planted where needed. But above all, there will be, through the cultural operations, the building up of a forest of white oak and pine by the gradual elimination of inferior commercial species that have taken possession of the forests through removal of the valuable species.

Every forest fire leaves its destructive mark on the trees. With the elimination of fires, there will be an increase in the quality of the timber which, under regulation, will be placed on the market and so contribute to the industrial development of the entire State.

For the Ozarks, a new day is dawning. The rehabilitation of the forests, the creation of a regulated industry in timber and grazing, with the ever-present chance for individual enjoyment of the Ozark woods and streams, points the way to social happiness and industrial stability for the residents of that region in the development of the natural resources.

The city dweller will have increasing reasons for trips to the Ozarks. He will find a region growing in attractiveness and he will observe the local population growing happier and more contented through the operation of a well-determined program of land utilization.

BEST FRIENDS, SEVEREST CRITICS.

From the New York Herald Tribune.

EVERY responsible newspaper values communications and reactions from its readers, when they sign their names and give their addresses. The anonymous letter-writer is another matter. He is usually a crank, and he is plainly uninterested in the primary rules of good behavior. He deserves, and normally gets, the waste paper basket, unopened and unread.

We take this means to convey to our readers in general the fact that criticisms are always welcome. Let them continue. The more the better. This is no magnanimous gesture. It is based on plain self-interest. For no newspaper can be perfect; and who are better judges of a newspaper, to help it discover and correct its errors, than the readers who support it?

Women in Bars

From the Kansas City Journal-Post.

TO the applause of all the dries and a few of the wets, Thomas L. Anderson, St. Louis Excise Commissioner, demands that women be forbidden to enter bars. He describes the present system as "infinitely worse than prohibition and worse than prohibition with all its evils. Mothers used to worry only over the sobriety of their sons. Now they are faced with a greater problem, the sobriety of their daughters."

Where was Mr. Anderson during prohibition? Does he know of speakeasies only by hearsay? Or has his memory played tricks on him?

St. Louis was notoriously well supplied with speakeasies before repeal, and they were well patronized by women of all ages and conditions, including young women. The only difference between the speakeasies and repeal bars is that the latter are more honest. They are open to inspection by mothers worried about the sobriety of their daughters.

In the 14 years after 1920, drinking increased to such an extent among women in the United States that it would be impossible to keep them out of legal dispensaries, just as it was impossible to keep them out of barber shops when they took to bobbing their hair. The law suggested by Commissioner Anderson—who talks as if every woman who drinks a beer or a highball is a "bar-fly"—would merely result in wholesale evasions, even if the saloon owners, some of whom favor it, tried to abide by the law.

Some day, it may become generally realized that the only way to handle the drinking problem is to bring it out into the open before the public gaze that is restraining influence. And some day, it may be realized that partial prohibition can be no more successful than total prohibition.

As a matter of fact, anyone who was acquainted with both the old saloon and the speakeasy knows that drinking in Kansas City is more orderly now than it was either before or after prohibition. Of course, this will be denied by the dries, who cannot bear to see anyone taking a drink in the quietest fashion. But how can such a person be regarded as a competent judge of the drinking of any period? And why should Commissioner Anderson talk as if he took his opinions from prohibition extremists?

RAILWAY SAFETY.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WHILE the death toll of the highways grows from year to year at a pace which should dismay the public more than it does, the railroads continue to set up new records for safety in operations.

Stories of railroad wrecks with heavy loss of life are now a distinct novelty in the news. That may be partly because the volume of passenger traffic has diminished greatly since the auto became a commonplace. But it also reflects a painstaking and successful effort to make safe operation doubly sure.

Thus the New York Central announces a safety record which merits particular attention. In 1934, for the seventh consecutive year, it operated without a passenger fatality resulting from a train accident. Since the Central is one of the chief passenger lines of the nation, that is a notable achievement.

The advent of streamlined trains and locomotives has speeded up railway schedules. That calls for even greater care for safety. It is to be hoped that safety records won't fall in the quest for speed. On the basis of recent records in accidentless operation, there should be little cause for such fear.

WASHINGTON, July 16.
DON'T be surprised if a full-blown inflation scheme suddenly drops out of the blue to the floor of the House.

The uproar over lobbying and taxation has obscured the comatose Frazier-Lemke bill to refinance farm mortgages with $300,000,000 of greenbacks, but its backers are within a hair's breadth of forcing Congressional consideration. They have 204 names on a "discharge" petition to bring the bill before the House. Twelve more will do the trick.

Administration floor leaders, all dead-set against the bill, are in a state of jitters. Some time ago, they thought they had it gathered dust in a committee pigeonhole, when suddenly they discovered that its sponsors had 189 names on a petition to force the measure out to the floor. The leaders hurriedly swung into action.

By various means, especially whispered intimations that the President would veto the bill if it came to him, they persuaded 12 of the signers to withdraw. It looked like the inflationists were definitely stopped.

But they countered with a bold move of their own. They organized a committee and sent it to call on the President for a face-to-face showdown on the veto report. The President told the committee that he had authorized no one to say he would reject the measure if it was enacted.

With this weapon in their hands the inflationists renewed their drive, and are daily drawing closer to the goal of the necessary 218 names.

One thing is certain: If the inflationists succeed in bringing the bill to the floor, its passage is a foregone conclusion. All but 30 members from districts west of the Mississippi River are favorable to the legislation. This is more than enough to assure approval.

Careful.
WHEN New York's bushy-haired Royal S. Copeland calls for a drink of water on the Senate floor, the page boys now bring in a pitcher. Reason for this is a sad experience that befell one of the youngsters.

Copeland was making one of his long, dry harangues when he snapped his fingers at a page and ordered a glass of water. The boy was back in a few moments with a brimming tumbler.

Just as he was about to deposit it on Copeland's desk, the gesticulating Senator suddenly swung his arm, dashed the glass from the page's hand.

The little fellow fled from the chamber. A few minutes later, another page appeared carrying a pitcher and an empty glass. The last he deposited on Copeland's desk and filled from the pitcher.

Up the Flue.

THE number of New Deal agencies which have died at birth is revealing. The fact is being kept a secret, but another of them has just gone up the flue.

The evaporated experiment was the highly touted Consumers' Division of the National Emergency Council.

Created by an executive order more than a year ago, it was heralded as the fountain-head of a grandiose plan under which State and local bodies would organize to protect consumers' interests from price gouging.

But the crusade never materialized.

General John

"Cannot Permit Giant Lives"—Blames Big B Jobs.

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

SOME of the corporations perform a useful function. Existing conditions, however, cannot be ignored. The larger corporations now employ the great mass of wage earners (70 per cent). To force arbitrarily a change to smaller units, would be loss of production with resulting unemployment.

General Motors represents a market of $1,700,000,000. Business bigness means mass production. Mass production means concentration of great resources that enables luxuries to be turned into necessities. If we are to restrict the ability of industry to produce things in a big way, we lose our ability to produce efficiently.

The foregoing are quotations from the mass propaganda released by big business against the New Deal tax program in particular and the New Deal itself in general—Alfred Sloan and the duPonts pleading for the welfare of the unemployed and asserting that our future prosperity lies in bigness—concentration of wealth and power, and of control 70 per cent of all industrial employment in fewer than 200 corporate groups.

It is a bold, frank and honest assertion of a clean-cut issue. I am not defending the graduated corporate income tax. I doubt anybody has studied it enough.

IN every season of Municipal Opera, some shows are bound to be classed as minor accomplishments. It is a result of the old law of averages and finds expression in such philosophy as "You can't all be first."

"Sunny," which opened last night, probably will finish the race with the first. For the pleasures to be derived from it are occasional, rather than continuous as they were with "Good News," the tip-top show of these first seven weeks. "Sunny" has several very pretty stage pictures, several good songs, a scattering of comedy lines and dance specialties, drawn in by the hair of the head but still acceptable.

Last night, as an added attraction for one performance, there was a total eclipse of the moon, and if good luck comes to the Municipal Opera, fortune is going to smile all over her face in St. Louis. For $1500 on his arrival in January, based on the rate of 15 cents a mile for 5000 miles and return. Next January he will be paid at the new rate of 20 cents a mile, or $2000. A. B. P. Kittery Point, Me.—The flowering bushes encircling the famous Washington pany bed are: deutzia rosea, spiraea, reevesiana and rosa rugosa. They are selected to bloom at the same time with the pany. The pany is a mile or two from the city. The pany is a mile or two from the city. The pany is a mile or two from the city.

WHAT drew most applause last night was, equally surprising, not even in the original show. Two songs, "Be Still My Heart" and "Lullaby of Broadway." Gertrude Niesen, whose individuality and rich voice have built up a following for her in the last few weeks, sings them with "full-throated ease" in the manner of 1935.

"Lullaby of Broadway," which, by the way, comes to us from the movie musical, "Gold Diggers of 1935," has been worked into a chorus number reminiscent of its predecessor. The other extraneous material, presented as incidental music, ranges from "Sweet Sue" (what tap dancer does not know a be controlled by his personal fortunes).

It is exactly because of the break-neck race to bigness as between great private groups that, in this era of bigness, the Government must take a hand to protect the people. They have grown so great that they themselves are economic governments affecting our lives even more than political governments, and we can't permit that.

Furthermore, it was exactly this centralization of control, destruction of small enterprise, industrialism and mechanization run riot, which created the crash of 1929, prolonged depression and destroyed employment in this country.

We cannot abandon ourselves to it. It must somehow be controlled in the public interest. That is the outstanding lesson of the NRA experiment of this whole depression.

General Johnson's Article

"Cannot Permit Giant Corporations to Run Our Lives"—Blames Big Business for Destroying Jobs.

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON.

WASHINGTON, July 16. SMALLER corporations perform a useful function. Existing conditions, however, cannot be ignored. The larger corporations now employ the great mass of wage earners (70 per cent). To force arbitrarily a change to smaller units, would be loss of production with resulting unemployment.

General Motors represents a market of $1,700,000,000. Business bigness means mass production. Mass production means concentration of great resources that enables luxuries to be turned into necessities. If we are to restrict the ability of industry to produce things in a big way, we lose our ability to produce efficiently.

The foregoing are quotations from the mass propaganda released by big business against the New Deal tax program in particular and the New Deal itself in general—Alfred Sloan and the duPonts pleading for the welfare of the unemployed and asserting that our future prosperity lies in bigness—concentration of wealth and power and of control of 70 per cent of all industrial employment in fewer than 200 corporate groups.

It is a bold, frank and honest assertion of a clean-cut issue. I am not defending the graduated corporation income tax. I doubt if anybody has studied it enough either to defend or attack it intelligently. But I am dead sure that this urging of a resumption of the pre-NRA trend toward concentration of all business in this country in the hands of a few large corporations is a vital, living issue which ought to be fought to a finish right now.

There is no doubt of the value of mass production in reducing price. There is equally no doubt that it reduces price by destroying jobs. Low prices are a goal. Jobs for all willing workers are also a goal.

The true policy would seem to be to balance and control one tendency against the other—to reduce price just as far as that is possible without destroying so much employment that mass production is useless because there is no market for its output. Exactly that nationwide tendency destroyed our domestic market and is responsible for our present plight.

You won't get an answer to this problem from Alfred Sloan or any other man whose responsibility is the success of one large corporate group as against another. He can't possibly see that problem in any other light than that of his duty to his own corporation. I say this in no criticism of Alfred Sloan, who has not only my deep personal affection, but my highest esteem as a fair and honest executive who would not let his honest conviction

St. Louisans Off for Europe

MR. AND MRS. NELSON HOWE and son, JAMES, OF 1022 Hampton drive, Hampton Park, as they sailed on the liner Normandie for a summer visit in Europe.

routine to that) to "Anchors Aweigh," more or less identified now with the executive branch of the Government.

Gil Lamb, in the role which was the late Jack Donaghy, has been turned loose to do what he can with "Sunny." He is one of the evening's delights. Externally clowning with his low, elastic body of his, he still leaves no doubt that he is one of most skilled dancers ever to come to the park. Teamed up with him is the grand little comedienne, Audrey Christie, giving every bit of energy to an unproductive role.

In John Sheehan, Municipal Opera has dug up an excellent comedian. Sunny's Swiss father this week, he adopts a Baron Munchausen accent quite in contrast to his Foch Kearney and Guy Tabarie. He gets his share of the laughs.

Staging of "Sunny," except for the opening scene at the circus, is done beautifully. The deck of the ship with a forest of cottonwoods close off starboard, a modernistic gymnasium, a poppy field at the hunt club with a stage full of "pink" coats keep up Raymond Sovey's excellent work as scene designer.

Marjorie Peterson, as "Sunny," makes her entrance on a daisy company's white horse; three horses in the hunt scene keep the audience in jitters until they are led off. Trained dogs, acrobats and a juggler lend reality to the circus.

JERRY GOFF and Miss Peterson sing "Sunny" and "Who," both hits from the original show but now more than a little showman, especially after "Sunny" goes through a score of performances by the orchestra.

Rosemary Deering, popular in past seasons, came back last night in a dance specialty which brought her a hearty greeting. Other items are dance specialties by Una Val, Lorraine Manners and Duke McCallie; Gil Lamb's shadow-boxing (he deserves mention several times) and, of definite interest, gorgeous costumes and gowns.

So much for "Sunny." What follows is the American premiere, next Monday night, of "Beloved Rogue," a European operetta by Robert Stolz, composer of the lilting "Two Hearts in Waltz Time."

"American Beauty" adjustable-automatic electric iron

What Does Adjustable-Automatic Mean?

- It means that the iron can be adjusted for any kind of work. A mild, gentle heat for safely ironing silks, rayons and other delicate fabrics; an intense heat for the heavier, damper pieces and any intermediate heat that may suit you.
- When you set the control (by a mere touch of the finger) for any desired heat, the automatic switch inside of the iron, maintains the heat, at all times, at the desired degree.
- Should you be interrupted while ironing, and forget to turn off the electricity, no harm will be done. This iron cannot overheat nor will it reach a fire hazard temperature.
- This safety feature alone makes it advisable to discard your old iron in favor of one of these irons.
- And the "AMERICAN BEAUTY" is so designed and constructed as to assure years of satisfactory, trouble-free service. It costs a little more at first, but is much cheaper in the long run.

It pays to pay a little more and get the BEST

DECALES ARE BROUGHT TO FRONT STOCK LIST

Most of the So-Called Leaders Are Rather Neglected—Price Changes Generally Narrow.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 16.—Specialties were again brought to the front in today's stock market while most of the so-called leaders were rather neglected.

Price changes, generally, were quite narrow and profit taking seemed to be well absorbed. The close was fairly steady. Transfers approximated 900,000 shares.

The fact that the list was able to travel to a moderately even level, and to improve substantially in spots, was encouraging to bullish forces, although an attitude of caution was evident in most of the boards.

Grains, backing and filling indefinitely, furnished no stimulus for stocks. Cotton was inclined to slip. A number of low-priced rails developed a better tone in the bond market. Firmness of the French franc was virtually the only feature of foreign exchange dealings.

Shares of Coca-Cola came to life with a gain of about 5 points, while Bridgeport Brass, Houdaille, Hershey, Mack Truck, Collins & Aikman and Corn Products advanced a point or so each. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey were resistant. The metals were mixed. Cerro de Pasco gained a point.

The rails, motors and steels failed to repeat their performance of Monday and the majority were about unchanged to slightly lower. Eastman Kodak, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Westinghouse and National Distillers were off fractionally to a point.

French Franc Higher Late.
Wheat closed 1/2 of a cent a bushel lower to a higher and steadier showed late strength by finishing 1/2 to 1/4 up. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 up. Cotton ended 55 to 65 cents a bale lower.

In afternoon transactions sterling was unchanged at $4.96 1/2, and the French franc was up 1/16, to 21.25 cent at 6.53 1/2 cents. Guilders and Belgian francs and Swiss francs were unchanged.

Kilkenny Cats, Again.
Our Poor Break-Downs.
Picks for Lawyers.
The Blind Man's Reason.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1935.)

TWO cats hung over a line must fight. The Kilkenny story proves it.

Mussolini has committed himself to war. And, once a dictator speaks positively, it is unsafe politically for him to back down, especially when other nations interfere, as France and England have interfered. To retreat might cost Mussolini his prestige.

Difficult also is the position of Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia. His hold is not firm. Important chiefs, heading various Abyssinian tribes, would like his job. If he should avoid war by yielding part of his territory to Mussolini, as advised by England, resulting complications might include assassination, common in tropical countries.

You will probably see an Italian-Abyssinian war. If Mussolini sends his planes, a few moderate-sized bombs and gas that smart but does not kill to the residences of the Abyssinian King and the chiefs who would like to be King, the war might be short.

Gentlemen you send to Congress are confused, uncertain, "up in the air," about many things. But all are agreed on this: They want to go home. When Congressman Deen of Georgia moved "immediate adjournment" yesterday, reporters said he "brought cheers that rocked the house."

Congressman Deen said that 20 members of Congress are sick in hospitals or at their homes, "with heart trouble or nervous breakdowns."

That is too bad. How many would be in hospitals, do you suppose, if they did their own thinking, instead of letting somebody else think for them?

Mr. Byrnes, Speaker, back from a week-end with the President, said he thought the "nervous breakdown-Congress" would have to stay, at least until Aug. 20.

A favorite torture of old China was depriving victims of sleep. After a few sleepless days and nights, they would admit anything, confess anything, implicate anybody. The thoroughly tired Congress, with a few more of its "nervous breakdowns" in the hospital, could be easily managed.

What would become of those Congressmen if they worked as other Americans do, all through the year, and did their own thinking as they worked?

Owners of stock in Paramount-Public Moving Picture Co., once selling on the market at $100,000,000 and more, now worth about nothing, learn that in some wind-up proceedings lawyers ask for $3,600,000. That seems a good deal, but you must remember that one New York lawyer—he will not object to being mentioned—the skillful Louis Levy, once got more than a million dollars for settling a sad misunderstanding between a prosperous gentleman and a certain "litle lady."

Senator Nye of North Dakota thinks the lawyers' Paramount-Public bill means "a return of prosperity to a few," and adds: "Legal plundering of corporations in financial difficulties has become a national racket."

Of course it has, but how do you expect corporation lawyers to live? The day is far off when the original Choate apologized for sending in a bill for $2500, explaining that he had devoted 30 years of study to the point involved.

You have heard that "this is a queer world," and it is. Two contrasting pieces of news prove it.

In Moscow, Private Noskoff, making a parachute jump, caught on the stabilizer of his airplane, lost his parachute, fell toward death. In his fall he passed another parachute jumper, Krasikoff, providentially in his path, seized him, and the parachute brought both down safely.

While that was happening in Moscow, a blind man named Forest R. Wells was throwing Miss Hazel Martin, also stone blind, from a hotel window in Boston. After he had thrown her out, he threw out her pet dog, killed both. He told police:

"I had to leave her because we couldn't get along. She was blind, had no friends, no money. I loved her, so I killed her."

And, as though that settled it, he added: "It was best for me."

Figures do not lie, but they surprise you. For instance, in the year 1801, the Government of the United States had 126 employees. Today it has 700,000 employees, an Alfred Otto Wagner refused to step into a cell in the Brooklyn Federal Building, but three husky policemen soon changed his mind. Wagner is held as the author of a number of extortion notes.

HER Work Was Well Done

By Alexander Woolcott

Of the people I have met, I would name Minnie Marx as among the few of whom it could be said that they had greatness. Minnie Marx was in this world 65 years and lived all 65 of them. None knew better than she the value of a little forethought to prevent trouble. Thinking ahead and planning for the child's future needs is a better way of managing than waiting until an emergency rises. Emergency measures are not usually chosen for the best reasons. There have been times when a child escapes illness. Sometimes the doctor must be called to treat him. The day comes when the dentist must look at his teeth and clean them, or fill one or more of them. If the little one has been conditioned—the professional term for prepared—he can be helped promptly and effectively. If he has been allowed to go without that preparation the doctors are hindered and he is not helped as effectively as he might have been. Train a child to open his mouth and say, "Ah-ah," while you hold a spatula on his tongue (the end of a spoon will do). Teach him to accustom himself to your swabbing his mouth with a wad of cotton dipped in boric solution. amused no one more, and their reward was her ravishing smile. It was her idea that they should go into the theater at all. She herself was doing sweat-shop lace-making when she married a tailor named Sam Marx. But for 50 years her father was a roving magician in Hanover, and as a child she had known the excitement of their barn-storming car-rides from one German town to another. Now here she was, sidetracked in a Third Avenue tenement, with a swarm of children on her hands. But hadn't her brother deserted his career as a pants-maker to go into vaudeville? You remember the song about Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean? Well, that was her brother—Mr. Shean. His first success only strengthened her conviction that she came of show-folk, and she was determined that her sons should enter into that inheritance. She had six, in all. One died as a baby. After the war, she lost another to the silk-dress business. This defection from her now notable quartet did not baffle her long. Reaching for Zeppo, her youngest, she yanked him out of high school and flung him into the breach.

At first she had an undisputed monopoly of the idea that her boys would do well in the theater. Even they did not share it with her. To be sure, Chico, the eldest, was a piano player. Fortunately for her peace of mind, she didn't know where. But she knew he was a piano player, for she herself had amassed the weekly quarter which paid for his lessons. Then her Julius—that's the youngest—had a promising soprano voice. After cleaning up the breakfast things she used to tether the youngest to the kitchen table and sit all day in agents' offices, until finally she got her Julius a job. Then, when she had incredibly lured her vaudeville act—it consisted of a son or so, picked out with a pretty girl and a tenor—she couldn't bear the thought of setting forth on tour while her Harpo stayed behind, a bellhop at the Seville, with no one to see that he ate and drank. It was a woman of magnificent decision who therefore called a cab, drove to the Seville, snatched Harpo from his employment and, en route to Henderson's at Coney Island, transformed him with a white duck suit, so that, just as the curtain was rising, she could catapult him into the act. Really, one cannot say that the Marxes ever went on the stage. They were pushed on.

The uphill stretch was a long one, humble, worrisome, yet so humorously rolling. The Third Avenue flat, with the rent money never once on time in 10 years, gave way to a Chicago house, with an equally oppressive mortgage. And when in their trouping through that territory they would grow so harem-scarem that there was real danger of a fine by the management, she would have to subdue them by a magic word whispered piercingly from the wings. The word was "Greenbaum." You see, Mr. Greenbaum held the house, and the fact that it was 13 years after his first homespun efforts as an impresario that her great night came. That was when, for the first time, the "Marx Brothers" were written in lamps over the door of a Broadway theater. For the premiere of "Till She Is" she felt entitled to a new gown, with which she proposed to sweep to her seat in the proscenium box. But while she was standing on a chair to have it fitted, the incompetent chair gave way, and she broke her ankle. So she couldn't exactly sweep to her seat on the first night. They had to carry her. But she got there.

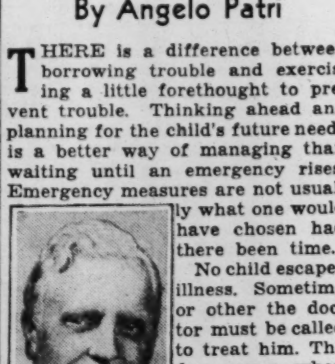

HER trouble was that her boys had got too big. They had arrived. The theater, I think she took less interest in their professional lives. When someone paid them a king's ransom to make their first talkie, she only yawned. What she sighed for was the zest of beginnings. Why, I hear that once she was caught up in a dancing school, with the idea of putting him on the stage. In her boredom she took to poker, her game being marked by so incurable a weakness for inside straight, that, as often as not, her rings were missing and her bureau drawer littered with sheepish pawntickets. On the night Animal Crackers opened she was so absorbed that she almost forgot to go at all. But at the last moment she sent her husband for her best wig, dispatched her chauffeur to fetch her new wig, and, assembling herself on the way down-

Forethought As a Trouble Preventive

Children Can Be Accustomed To Unpleasantness Ahead of Time.

By Angelo Patri

There is a difference between borrowing trouble and exercising a little forethought to prevent trouble. Thinking ahead and planning for the child's future needs is a better way of managing than waiting until an emergency rises. Emergency measures are not usually chosen for the best reasons. There have been times when a child escapes illness. Sometimes the doctor must be called to treat him. The day comes when the dentist must look at his teeth and clean them, or fill one or more of them. If the little one has been conditioned—the professional term for prepared—he can be helped promptly and effectively. If he has been allowed to go without that preparation the doctors are hindered and he is not helped as effectively as he might have been. Train a child to open his mouth and say, "Ah-ah," while you hold a spatula on his tongue (the end of a spoon will do). Teach him to accustom himself to your swabbing his mouth with a wad of cotton dipped in boric solution. Accustom him to having you go over his teeth with a finger wrapped in clean gauze dipped in the same solution or in a pleasant mouth wash. Teach him to gargle and to rinse his mouth.

Angelo Patri

When you go to the doctor's office take him along with you so that he meets the doctor and becomes accustomed to considering him a friendly, helpful person. Do the same with the dentist. The dentist will win his friendship if you give him the chance. Familiarity breeds confidence in this situation. If you value the physician's help, don't ever threaten the child by saying, "All right, wait until the doctor gets you. He'll fix you. He'll hurt you lots more than I do." Don't detail your suffering in the dentist's chair when the child is listening. He will remember and when his turn comes he will fight. When the child is well you hate to bother with such details. They take time and care and, beside that, you hate to think of the necessity for the physician. But deep in your consciousness is the knowledge that his services are going to be needed. If you are going to be needed, it is better to be ready than to be found wanting, especially on the part of the child. He cannot be expected to be cheerfully confident when, in pain and grief, he faces the strange doctor for the first time. He will draw back in fear. His condition will aggravate that fear. There will be a scene, the doctor's patience and skill will be tried to the utmost, you will be beside yourself with anxiety. All because of a lack of a little forethought.

town, reached the theater in time to greet the audience. Pretty as a picture she was, as she met us in the aisle. "We have a big success," she said.
Minnie Marx was a wise, tolerant, generous, gallant matriarch. In the passing of such a one, a woman full of years, with her work done, and children and grandchildren to hug her memory all their days, you have no more of a sense of death than you have when the Hudson leaves you behind on the shore on its way to the fathomless sea. She died during rehearsal, in the one week of the year when all her boys would be around her—back from their summer roamings, that is, but not yet gone forth on tour. Had she foreseen this? I'm not sure she didn't—she would have chuckled, and combining a sly wink with her beautiful smile, she would have said, "How's that for perfect timing."

SOVIET WOMEN DEMAND CHIC CLOTHES

And They Are Winning Their Fight for American and Paris Modes

SEWING CIRCLES HAVE BEEN ORGANIZED IN THE PROVINCES IN WHICH THE MODES DISPLAYED IN FASHION MAGAZINES ARE USED AS DESIGNS.

MISS ELIZABETH HAWES

THE WOMAN EDITOR OF A SOVIET FASHION MAGAZINE TOLD ME THAT UNDER A REGIME OF MASS PRODUCTION EVERYONE WOULD LOOK ALIKE.

By Ralph Barnes

MOSCOW. WITH a growing minority of the more than 40,000,000 women of the U. S. S. R. learning something about the meaning of the word "chic," the Soviet textile and fashion authorities are faced with new and complicated problems the solution of which is taxing their abilities.

When a state undertakes to own and control industry it is one thing. When the same state undertakes to dictate women's fashions it is another. In fact, the early efforts of the Soviet authorities to create a "proletarian" revolution in fashions failed dismally.

Little or nothing is heard these days of the movement of a few years ago to sever completely relations with the fashion centers of the capitalist world. The bizarre modes in women's clothes—some of them reminiscent of fashions in ancient Greece—which were proposed seriously in 1932 as suitable for the workers' and peasants' state would be laughed at were they to reappear today.

As for the Soviet textile chiefs, they have given up their futile efforts to popularize dressgowns in which the figures were cogwheels, electric bulbs, tractors, factories, railroads, gas masks or Red soldiers, all more or less conventionalized.

What, then, is the Soviet fashion situation today?

Miss Elizabeth Hawes, Vassar College graduate and American fashion expert, came to the U. S. S. R. in part to study the clothes problem. In an interview here she told of her impressions and indicated some tentative conclusions.

"Apparently when it comes to clothes," she said, "Soviet women—the majority of those who live in the cities, at least—are not prepared to be made the objects of clumsy experiments. Since the Soviet fashion experts have not yet been able to provide suitable substitutes for the modes of capitalist countries the women themselves have forced the experts back to Paris and New York for their models.

"The problem of the authorities has been complicated by the fact that they have had to deal with a conservative streak which apparently is deeply rooted in Russian women. Take the question of trousers. I am told that some women members of the Moscow police force actually resigned rather than wear the trousers which were prescribed as part of their uniforms. In fact, the opposition to trousers was so strong the authorities were forced to purchase skirts.

"As a showing in Moscow which I saw, a Soviet model appeared wearing a beach cape over a multi-colored bathing suit. Apparently she was concerned about the scantiness of her attire, for when she was asked to display the bathing suit beneath the cape she did so in an embarrassed manner and then quickly gathered the cape about her bare legs. These are facts, even though they do not fit in with the common notion of what Soviet women are like.

"However all this may be, I believe that the return to Paris and

New York for ideas in fashions will prove temporary. In developing their clothes industry the Soviets are reverting near the bottom with relatively few traditions to maintain. With experience they should be in a position to develop a modified type of women's attire acceptable to Soviet women because attractive and at the same time applicable to mass production. It is as has been suggested, the Soviets are to lead the world in clothes design they will have to do something along this line.

Miss Hawes said that she found a good deal of difference of opinion and confusion of thought among the groups working here in the field of fashions. She continued: "In so far as the R. S. F. S. R. is concerned (this republic includes Great Russia and the bulk of Siberia), there are two principal agencies engaged in this field, the Commissariat of Education and the Wholesale Dress Trust. In general it can be said that the Commissariat of Education is acting in a supervisory capacity, especially in respect to custom-made clothes. A so-called 'Art Group,' associated with the commissariat, is primarily interested in the development of clothes of this type and tends to look askance at mass production.

"Of this school is Comrade Wolfstein, the woman editor of 'Mode de la Saison,' one of the Soviet fashion magazines, who told me she thought that under a regime of mass production everyone would look alike.

"The Dress Trust is working along other lines. In its factories it is producing women's attire on a wholesale basis and thus, of course, it leans toward mass production.

"Comrade Helfitz, who is charged with the publication of a number of fashion magazines which differ considerably from 'Mode de la Saison,' takes issue with the opinion of the latter publication. He favors mass output, and is more or less confident that eventually made-to-order clothes will go out of existence in this country. Helfitz is a hustler who has gone so far as to provide the women of the provinces with a Soviet-made dress, produced in the Soviet factories are pictured, numbered, priced and described.

For the most part, the modes in the Soviet fashion magazines are copies of the simpler fashions emanating from Paris and New York. The majority of the dresses which I saw at 'showings' were bad. The Soviets have not learned the importance of lines in dresses, and they fail to take account of the fact that the way in which we achieve our best clothes is through the utmost simplicity. The bulk of the afternoon and street dresses which I have seen are too long, many of them of ankle length. The Soviet designers display a tendency to cut their material into too many pieces, and in the case of made-to-order dresses, to decorate it with too much complicated handwork—embroidery and drawn work. This handwork does not go with the kind of clothes they are trying to make, but it is available to them at low cost, so they go on using it.

"The majority of the dresses, whether factory or custom made, are of printed cottons, artificial silks or linen. The linen is excellent, though not non-crushable. There is a craze for berets, and in the streets of Moscow one sees more examples of this type of headwear than of any other. Stretched white hats also are popular.

"The majority of the officials and experts in the field of clothes and fashions realize how bad many of the Soviet dresses are and how serious is the lack of co-operation among various branches of the clothing industry. Likewise, they realize that the standards set by the fashion magazines are low. One thing can be said: the officials and experts are working for improvement.

The Soviet authorities have done a good deal to stimulate the demand. For example, the fashion department of the Commissariat of Education has been active in organizing sewing circles in the provinces in which the modes displayed in the Soviet fashion magazines are used as designs.

"The demand for everything to do with women's wearing apparel is much greater than the supply. Fashion magazines, patterns, materials, dressmakers and ready-made clothes—all are eagerly sought after. There is not enough in any one category to go around. Something must come of all this."

Some Problems That Concern Introductions

Etiquette Requires One To Arise When Shaking Hands.

By Emily Post

THIS letter is from a high school girl who asks: "When I am spending the evening with a friend and other friends of hers, who happen to be strangers to me, come to see her, am I supposed to stand to shake hands with them, or may I acknowledge her introductions in a friendly way?"

Answer: If they go toward you with the evident intention of shaking hands, you would of course, as a guest, stand to greet them, but if they stand where they are and merely nod their heads and smile and say, "How do you do," then you too may merely smile and bow from where you are.

Dear Mrs. Post: How should I introduce a young stepmother to my friends without making her feel uncomfortable?

Answer: You introduce your very intimate friends, calling your stepmother whatever name you prefer, and saying, "This is Jane Jones." Or if your stepmother is very young and you call her Mary, you perhaps reverse it and say, "Janet, this is Mary" or if you love her very dearly, "Our Mary." More formally you would say, "Mrs. Oiler, my stepmother." Many people think that "step-mother" has a stand-off sound rather giving the impression of dislike. This is, of course, an opprobrium handed down from the fairy tales and has nothing to do with real stepmothers. In other words, "my stepmother" or "my mother-in-law" ought not to imply any greater lack of affection than "my aunt" or "my cousin." It is not the same as "mother"—but then no name is.

Dear Mrs. Post: Our club is having a dinner and we are arguing as to whether a toastmaster should be introduced or whether he should introduce himself.

Answer: At a large and formal dinner or other meeting at which many strangers are present, the president or other officer of the club usually prefaces the introduction of the speakers by making a short welcoming address and concludes his remarks by introducing the chairman of the evening, or, officially turning the rest of the program over to him. But if the dinner, or meeting, can in any sense be called informal, the toastmaster takes charge without any preliminary introduction.

I cannot see much advantage in keeping up a home when everybody has deserted or gone to the country. It is not "home" if you are not happy there, though, of course the house is there and the furnishings cannot get away. Perhaps you would like the country better than you think, and if it is at all possible, to rent your home and its belongings, I think you should at least go out to your husband and see if you cannot help him get a start there.

Dear Mrs. Carr: WILL you please give me the name of some club or place that teaches one how to play tennis at a small cost? I am very anxious to know how to play and would appreciate it very much if you will answer as soon as possible.

VERA H.

The Municipal courts in Forest Park are open now and doubtless, through the Superintendent of Recreation, Frank D. Sullivan, you may be able to find an instructor. Permits, costing $1 apiece, to play on these courts, may be had in the City Recreation Department, room 330 Municipal Courts Building, from 9 to 5 o'clock daily.

Permits for the use of Reservoir Park all-weather courts and Baden courts must be obtained from the Water Department office, room 312, City Hall. And permits for Tower Grove Park must be purchased at the Tower Grove Park office at the intersection of Aqueduct and Tower Grove avenue. Any of these permits cost $1 apiece.

Martha Carr: I READ in the paper about young men and crime. Why does this happen? It is because we cannot find work. All these men employing girls should find work which they are married and have husbands working. Send them home and put men in their places and times would get better.

WAITING FOR A JOB.

Letters intended for this column should be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By Martha Carr

Dearest Mrs. Carr: I AM a very young girl, just 13 years old. Now here is my certain friend I am very fond of. My father actually hates this girl (she does get pretty smart sometimes); but it seems I can't give her up, because she is gratefully fond of me.

When my mother is not around, my father simply will not let me go with this girl (who is two years older than I).

There are six children in our family and I am the oldest. Now Mrs. Carr, I am going to take your advice. Should I give up this girl-friend to whom I am greatly attached?

My father calls me names and says I am no good; but he does not realize how hard he hurts my feelings.

I only weigh 83 pounds, Mrs. Carr, can you tell me how to gain? And if anyone has clothing to give away, will you please give our sizes?

C. H. F.

Perhaps the trouble is that you are "running the friendship in the ground," as parent often tell their boys and girls. Don't eat her up and run with her so much. And—whether she likes it or not—remind her that it is up to her, to some extent, to try to win the friendship of your father by being more respectful. Tell her she will never make friends of older people, especially your father, by being "smarmy" and uppity.

Let your father see that you have the ability to make friends and to have more than one—it's more fun, anyway—and any girl who becomes offended because you have other friends is just silly and doesn't know how to make friends herself. But that isn't your worry.

Send me self-addressed, stamped envelope for my folder, "Gaining and Developing."

If you wish help about clothing, you will have to write me giving good references of people who can be investigated.

Dear Mrs. Carr: IN ANSWER to "Heartbroken Mother's" letter—I have had the same experience.

My husband died leaving me with a daughter whom I raised until she was 17 when she ran away and married. I sacrificed much for her and hoped she would be a pal. Then, being broken in health, I married again. Now my husband is out of work and discouraged and has gone to the country. I know my daughter and her husband persuaded him to do this. I don't like the country and think there is no future in it. The land isn't under cultivation, but is timber land.

I have always been good to my daughter and given her what I could, but now am so blue and heart sick, I don't know what to do. Please give me your advice.

LONESOME AND BLUE.

P. S.—forget to state that I don't want to break up my home to go to the country.

MISS HAZEL M. BRENNSTATT LIKES DELICIOUS NEW BREAD

Honey Krushed Wheat Bread So Popular Because It Tastes Different and Relieves Constipation

"I am glad a friend recommended Honey Krushed Wheat Bread to me," writes Miss Hazel M. Brennstatt. "The combination of ingredients, including honey and crushed wheat, certainly produces a very tasty bread.

"No doubt its energy-producing and laxative qualities also add to make it the popular food that it is. In turn, am glad to recommend Honey Krushed Wheat Bread to others."

Honey Krushed Wheat Bread is not ordinary bread. It contains no dangerous drugs and is entirely "different" from any bread you ever ate—not only in taste—but also in what it does for you.

Folks who thought that they couldn't eat bread of any kind because it "tied them up" have found that Honey Krushed does just the reverse by aiding normal, natural elimination.

BEAT CONSTIPATION!
Eat Honey Krushed Wheat Bread regularly with every meal for the next 10 days. Benefit by giving your system the pure honey and other natural ingredients it provides.

Make this test—then be prepared to say "good-bye"—once and for all to constipation.
